Nazi Forces In Cherbourg Area Are Forced Back

Entire American Front In Cherbourg Peninsula Making Advance

NAZI WITHDRAWAL NOW IN PROGRESS

By KINGSBURY SMITH

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 14.—The Germans were reported officially today to be withdrawing along the entire battlefield below the Cherbourg peninsula in the face of punishing American artillery, armor and infantry assaults.

(The German main line from St. Lo to La Haye Du Puits has been withdrawn, the Nazi agency DNB admitted.)

The entire American front from St. Lo to the sea is well on the move, a spokesman at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said, "and it looks as though the enemy is conducting an orderly withdrawal."

At headquarters it was said that there was no sign of German panic and to large number of prisoners were being taken.

On the eastern sectors of the 100-mile long battlefield, the British held firm against bitter Nazi counter-assaults and were said to be regrouping continually in preparation for further offensive action.

The situation along the entire front was declared "very satisfactory."

Announcement that the Germans were withdrawing came immediately after Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters disclosed that American assault forces had made good progress.

PA NEWC Observes

Tomorrow is paper collection day in New Castle and surrounding townships. Paper will be collected in the afternoon. Only newspapers are desired in the collection Saturday.

One of the city receptacles for paper and debris on the public square, near the Y.M.C.A., is badly in need of repair. It is an unattractive sight on the sidewalk at the present time.

Pa Newc noted a couple of young men having a real time one night this week, driving around the city in what in the old days was known as a "rig." It was a snappy looking buggy drawn by a spirited horse.

Pa Newc is told that there are still a lot of young bicyclists in the city who either do not know the traffic regulations, or are most careless in their observance. Many near accidents have been reported due to this situation.

Attention of folks was attracted to an open wagon very crowded with cattle, travelling out East Washington street, Thursday afternoon. A cow had its jaw caught above a side board unable to extricate itself.

Local gardeners, whose plots did not receive the full benefit of Wednesday evening's rains, will cast envious eyes at the statistics for a year ago, when 1.11 inches of rain fell here. According to one local man who was out helping thresh yesterday, there was plenty of dust raised at the farm where he worked. Gardeners along the Pulaski road say the light rain which fell there resulted in yesterday's sun baking the top of the ground until it was almost as hard as concrete.

History Repeating, With East Prussia To Be Battle Scene

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for N.S.S.)

NEW YORK, July 14.—History repeats itself. The cold, barren, sandy, wind-swept plains of East Prussia are about to be a deadly battlefield once more. Many desperate conflicts have been fought in that area which is so like the brutal cruelty of the people who have sprung from that soil.

The key to the future peace of the western world is the extermination of Prussian military cult.

Much Fought Over

It is said that no area of Europe has been so much fought over as the sandy plains of East Prussia. The Prussians fought it out on horseback, when necessary they retired to their most surrounded castles. They hoisted their draw-bridges and withstood siege, all the time still enjoying their hard drinking recreation. At times they sallied forth, perhaps to defeat their enemies, perhaps to be forced back within their stone walls, but their castles seldom fell.

And so through the centuries the tides of war have ebbed and flowed over those sandy wind-swept plains until in August of 1914 the Prussians led by the at-one-time-supposed-unbeatable Marshal Von Hindenberg roundly defeated the Russians.

The czar's second Russian army under the command of General Samsonov and consisting of six and a half divisions of infantry with

Bond Campaign Is Pushed Over Goal In County

With less than $3000 to spare, Lawrence county made its quota in the fifth war loan campaign today. At noon the total reported in the Greater New Castle Association was $7,012,781.75, just a smidgeon over the quota of $7,010,000. The campaign will be continued throughout July and "E", "F" and "G" bonds sold during the month will be counted in the total.

"This has been a more difficult campaign than any of the other four," said Judge W. Walter Brumham, chairman of the campaign. "For that reason we appreciate the

Believe All On Fortress Killed

BANGOR, Me., July 14.—(INS)—A rescue party lead by skilled woodmen trekked through wild forest trails today to the Rangeley lakes region where the twisted wreckage of a Flying Fortress which had carried a crew of 10 was sighted last night.

Grenier Field, N. H., officials said the observers who spotted the wreckage from the air were convinced it was "almost impossible for anybody to survive."

The plane, last heard from Tuesday on a flight from Nebraska, to Dow Field, Bangor, lay at the bottom of a wild ravine 25 miles south of the Canadian border.

Washington Roundup

(By International News Service)

War experts in Washington today say American invasion of the Japanese-held islands of Guam, Timor and Rota may come at any time. In its latest communique, the navy says seizure of Saipan constitutes a major breach in the Japanese line of inner defenses and "it is our intention to capitalize upon this breach with all means available." In the same report, the navy discloses a small island near Saipan was captured and revealed that the Japanese admiral who executed the attack on Pearl Harbor was killed in the battle for Saipan.

Other sources in the capital believe Turkey's entrance into the war on the side of the allies is now a distinct possibility. They say such action "might shake the whole Balkan house" and force Germany to abandon the entire Balkan area.

On the political front, meanwhile, friends of vice-president Wallace claim he is ready to make a last ditch fight against party "bosses" for his political life at the Chicago Democratic convention next week backed by the CIO and expecting a friendly statement from President Roosevelt. Wallace is said to be confident he can whip his opposition in a free-for-all fight.

Automobile industry leaders are assembling in Washington today for a reconversion conference with WPB officials. The meeting comes on the heels of new warnings that lagging war production and "spot" manpower shortages apparently blocked any resumption of civilian output in the next few months.

In the mass sedition trial a ruling is expected on a motion for severance of another defendant from the proceedings. The defendant Foster was reduced Thursday to 27.

Japan Reports Heavy Attack Made On Guam

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—A twin bombardment by an American battleship and bombing planes of Japanese positions on the island of Guam was reported today by Tokyo.

The Jap Domei agency, in a wireless transmission reported by the FCC, said that the battleship twice bombarded the island yesterday in co-operation with a large formation of attacking planes.

Domei said also that 20 American bombers had raided Yap Island and claimed that one bomber was shot down.

A communique issued by the Jap imperial high command claimed that a total of 89 American planes had been "set afire" or "severely damaged" in a Jap raid on the Kweilin airfield in Kwangsi Province, China. The attack was said to have been carried out yesterday.

Robot Bombs Hit Normandy Area

By EDWARD V. ROBERTS
Representing the Combined Allied Press
(Distributed by U.S.S.)

ALLIED ADVANCE COMMAND POST, July 14.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower believes that German flying bombs which fell in the Normandy beachhead area were not directed there but probably had fallen there because faulty mechanism had taken them off their course toward England.

Now that censorship has permitted announcement that the missiles fell in the beachhead area, it may be disclosed that the Allied supreme commander has received full reports on the incidents and that he discussed them at his most recent press conference.

Eisenhower said no important damage was done.

(Editor's Note: An International News Service dispatch yesterday, quoting the London Daily Express, revealed that a number of the robots had fallen on the Normandy beachfront but pointed out they had actually been aimed at England. Something went wrong with the automatic pilot mechanism, the dispatch said, with the result the bombs roamed aimlessly and finally came down harmlessly in fields some distance from Allied military encampments.)

Germans Admit Airdrome At Caen Taken By Allies

LONDON, July 14.—(INS)—Loss of the Carpiquet airdrome outside of Caen, one of the most important airdromes in Normandy, to Canadian troops under Gen. Sir Bernard Law Montgomery was admitted today by DNB, the Nazi agency.

The field allegedly was "yielded" during recent heavy fighting after all installations and hangars had been destroyed.

Jerusalem Shaken By Violent Blasts

LONDON, July 14.—(INS)—The city of Jerusalem was shaken early today by several violent bomb explosions in the district police headquarters. Reuters' News agency reported.

A large fire raged in the building for an hour after the blast, which, according to officials, caused some casualties. Full details however, were not provided.

Allied Armies Seize Strategic Hills In Italy

Increased Pressure Is Brought To Bear On German Defenses Is Report

TERRICOLA MAY BE OUTFLANKED

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, July 14.—Increased pressure was brought to bear on German defenses from the west coast of Italy below the port of Livorno eastward to the Nazi-held strong-point of Arezzo today by attacking Allied armies.

Troops of both the Fifth Army and the Eighth Army seized strategic hill positions to press their assault northward in the direction of the Gothic defense line.

Make Progress

"The Allied armies in Italy have made further progress in their attacks to drive the enemy from his strongly defended hill positions covering Arezzo, Poggibonsi and Livorno," a communique from headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson said.

American troops of the Fifth Army, holding positions close to the west coast, advanced all along their front and threatened the town of Terricola with an out-flanking movement.

The Yank forces of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark seized a number of villages.

Soil Of Germany Being Shaken By Artillery Action

Russians Drawing Near To Border Of East Prussia Is Report

GERMAN FORCES ARE DEMORALIZED

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U.S. Foreign Editor)

Great new German withdrawals on both ends of the European battlefield were carried out today and on the eastern front the soil of Germany itself shook from the reverberations of Soviet artillery.

With Berlin admitting evacuation of Pinsk in White Russia and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announcing an apparent Nazi withdrawal from the whole fighting zone south of the Cherbourg peninsula in France, a flaring vise of Allied steel closed in upon the Reich.

Only 20 Miles Away

Latest dispatches put the Russians only 20 miles from the so-called Suwalki triangle of old Poland, a piece of territory that Adolf Hitler considered sufficiently valuable to annex to East Prussia. The eastern edge of Suwalki is thus the eastern border of Germany but the historic frontier of East Prussia still remains another 40 miles away.

The Germans admitted Soviet breakthroughs into Grodno in the course of savage attacks against the whole Niemen line guarding the eastern reaches of the Reich. With each foot of the Russian advance, a man who was for many years a top figure in the Nazi regime sank further into disillusionment and obscurity—a living symbol of the ultimate destruction of Hitlerism in its entirety.

Russian Forces 23 Miles From East Prussia

Liberation Of Wilno By Red Army Troops Has Been Entirely Completed

SOVIET LEGIONS SURGING AHEAD

By NATALIA RENE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, July 14.—Russian forces, having completed the liberation of Wil-

no (Vilna), capital of Soviet Lithuania, smashed their way today to within 23 miles of the German-defined border of East Prussia. After five days of savage street fighting in the 1,000-year-old Baltic Metropolis, Gen. Ivan D. Chernyakhovsky's Third White Russian army completely cleared Wilno of the enemy and captured more than 250 towns and villages to the west and southwest.

More than 8,000 Germans were killed and over 5,000 taken prisoner in the battle for Wilno, while booty captured included 156 guns of various caliber, 68 tanks and self-propelled guns and 1,500 motor vehicles.

Surge Ahead

Red army legions surged ahead all along the 550-mile battlefield from the region east of central Latvia to the Pripiet marshes, but the most spectacular advance was that northeast of Grodno. There Russian troops seized the town of Novaya-Ruda, about 60 miles from the old East Prussia frontier, but only 23 from the border set up by the Germans themselves when they conquered Poland in 1939.

Grodno is the northern anchor of the main German defense line in Poland toward which Soviet armies are now rushing at breakneck speed. Novaya-Ruda is only 18 miles northeast of Grodno.

A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Express quoted a Berlin commentator as saying that swarms of Russian tanks smashed through German defenses south-

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, July 14.—The ranks of Japan's remnant 18th army trapped in the New Guinea region of British New Guinea were sharply depleted today as a result of a futile attempt by the Nipponese to break out of their death trap by attacking American-held positions east of Aitape.

The desperate Japanese suffered heavy losses in their first attempt at a break-through to temporary freedom.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed in a communique that severe fighting between the remnants of the Japanese 18th army and American infantrymen holding the Aitape perimeter, some 75 miles west of Wewak, began late Tuesday and continued through Wednesday.

Heavy Casualties

"Our outposts inflicted heavy casualties in a preliminary engagement," Gen. MacArthur said.

NAZI FORCES THROWN BACK DNB ADMITS

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, July 14.—(INS)—The German high command admitted today that Nazi forces had been thrown back on several sectors of the Normandy front by the Americans.

An official communique said that the Americans threw new formations into the battle at the western end of the Normandy front.

The German command in Normandy had to throw in all its resources at St. Lo to meet a new American onslaught. The Nazi agency DNB said today in reporting a withdrawal of the main German line at St. Lo and in the La Haye Du Puits area.

"The attacks were stemmed on the whole," DNB said, "but local penetrations were met by a withdrawal of the main German line and the enemy was thus prevented from achieving the desired breakthrough."

Nazi Agency Reports Pinsk Is Evacuated

Germans Flee From White Russian Bastion Says Announcement

RUSSIAN DRIVE FOR EAST PRUSSIA (BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 14.—German evacuation of the White Russian bastion of Pinsk was announced today by the Nazi agency DNB.

A Nazi military commentator, Col. Ernst Von Hammer, at the same time admitted that the Russians twice made what were termed "temporary" breakthroughs into the city of Grodno, approximately 20 miles from the German-delimited border of East Prussia.

The Soviet forces which penetrated into Grodno, vital air and supply base and principal bastion at the northern end of the defense line guarding Warsaw, were reported thrown back by German reserve formations.

The German high command communique confirmed the evacuation of Pinsk in its regular communique.

The fortress city is situated on the main line from Gomel to Brest-Litovsk. Situated at the western fringe of the Pripiet marshes, it has been outflanked on both the north and south for some time.

Southward, west of Luck, German divisions were reported to have "systematically detached" themselves from the fighting front.

LONDON, July 14.—Soviet army mechanized forces launched a powerful attack against German Niemen defenses guarding East Prussia after ousting the Nazi-held bastion of Grodno, a Reuters dispatch from Moscow said today.

Postal Receipts Here Still Grow

Total Sales During First Half Of 1944 Exceeded Those Of Entire Year In 1933

INCREASE LESS THAN LAST YEAR

Although post office receipts for the first half of 1944 continue to show an increase over the preceding period in 1943, the rate of increase is not as great as it was in 1943, despite the increase in postal rates which went into effect the last of March. Postmaster William R. Hanna revealed today.

However, the business done in the first six months of this year was more than during the entire year of 1933, when the low point of the depression had been reached. Total sales for the first six months of 1944 totaled $162,430.33. For the entire year of 1933, they were but $140,344.90. This was for all normal business, and excludes the sale of Federal use stamps, duck stamps, war stamps, etc.

Business had shown an increase at the local office down through the years until 1930, when the effects of the depression began to be felt. The previous high point had been reached in 1929, when the yearly receipts were $182,461.11. Then they gradually dropped until in 1933, the lowest point was recorded.

After 1933, sales began to gradually increase and by 1939 had grown to more than the 1929 figure. In 1941, when the $200,000 bracket was reached, the figures showed a business of $226,136.41. In 1942, it grew to $253,127.41, and last year the $300,000 mark was passed with receipts of $309,461.57.

The business for the first six months of 1943, showed an increase of $27,397.79, while the increase for the first six months of this year was but $22,999.68, in spite of the advance in rates, which went into effect in March.

The June quarter sales this year, in April, May and June, amounted to $81,105.77. Sales in the June quarter of 1943, were $68,976.46 showing the effect of the advance in rates, which may be work marked in the last six months of the year.

five and a half of cavalry boldly set forth with silken flags snapping in the wind to invade East Prussia.

Czar's Army Defeated

They crossed the frontier and at the battle of Tannenberg, sometimes called the battle of the Masurian lakes, from August 26th to 30th of that fateful first year of the first World war, a terrific battle was fought.

When the smoke of battle cleared away, the proud Russian army of the czar had ceased to be.

Now history repeats itself. They proud legions of Germany are being forced back in retreat from the Baltic almost to the Black sea. The Prussian military class has once more failed to conquer the world. Failed to demonstrate their superiority over all other men.

The Soviet Legions are advancing in victory and are advancing for revenge for the battle of Tannenberg on the same soil it was fought 30 years ago.

The Allies, traditionally historic regiments of Cossacks now under the leadership of Marshal Stalin are riding hard for the kill—just as did the Prussian overlords in their hunting forests centuries ago. Those Cossack regiments look little different now from in the past. True, their astrakhan hats have been replaced with steel helmets. They now carry Tommy-guns and many automatic weapons. Those Cossack regiments are backed up and intermingled with great thundering steel Soviet tanks. They are all driving for the kill—for the extermination of the Prussian military cult. The revenge will be complete. History will not again repeat itself.

and supply center, appeared gravely threatened by the relentless Soviet onslaught.

Although the pre-war borders of East Prussia still lie somewhat further west, Germany's incorporation of the Suwalki triangle into East Prussia after the invasion of Poland, extended the frontier to within about 20 miles of Grodno.

The reported push into the Niemien line appeared aimed directly at the Baltic port of Königsberg in East Prussia which the Soviets may attempt to seize as their first big prize on pre-war German soil.

In East Prussia Area

New York, July 14.—(INS)—Russian troops already have entered region which administratively belong to East Prussia, the British radio reported this morning in a German-language broadcast recorded at the CBS short wave listening station.

One region which the Red army has entered had "officially been incorporated into East Prussia by decree on March 4, 1942," London said.

"The region of Bialystok was at the same time declared part of the Army District No. One, Königsberg. German Justice was introduced on January 1, 1943, while the railroads of the Bialystok region were managed by rail administration offices at Königsberg," continued the broadcast.

In November 1942, the Frankfurter Zeitung said that 90,000 Germans lived in the "so-called Bialystok district, mainly officials, businessmen and other from East Prussia," London pointed out.

press in an attack which brought them astride the main road to within two miles of the communications center of Lessay.

Yanks Push On

Units on the right flank of the La Haye front advanced about 2,000 yards near Bettenville-Sur-Ay. On the left, an attack overran the village of Vesly. In the Carentan sector the troops of Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley continued up both banks of the river Taute.

Near the center of the American front the Yanks reached the outskirts of the town of Tribouhau and pushed on two miles southeast thru the Bois Du Hommet to reach the road between St. Lo and Periers near Le Hommet D'Arthenay.

In the Lessay area patrols west of the main road from La Haye reached St. Germaine-Sur-Ay and forced the clearing of enemy forces. Bridges in the area had been blown up.

The Americans also developed an outflanking movement around St. Lo, apparently designed to encircle the town.

American units southeast of Saintry, on the Carentan-Periers road, advanced north of the Taute river and were believed to be approaching or already into the outskirts of Auzais.

Capture Villages

The Americans who pushed thru the Bois Du Hommet swung south to capture the villages of St. Martin Les Champs, Le Hommet D'Arthenay and Tribouhau and now are converging on the village of Les Champs De Losque.

The Bayeux-St. Lo road was further cleared of enemy forces east of St. Lo by the capture of important ground south of the village of St. Georges D'Elle.

Headquarters reported that allied fighter-bombers continued widespread attacks against German communications and railway tracks. The assaults cut bridges. A dam and tolling station were successfully attacked.

Close In On St. Lo

Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's troops closed in on St. Lo in a tightening siege arc. While the main assault forces remained about two to three miles distant from the roadway hub, advanced patrols, pushing forward behind strong artillery support, were reported to have moved in to points about a mile from the town.

At headquarters it was said there was nothing to indicate that the British in the area above Caen had been forced back across the river Orne.

Southwest of Caen, where the British have been preparing for an overland crossing of the Orne, strongly defended by the Germans, strategic hill 112, commanding a wide area north of Malot, was believed still in British hands. Possession of the feature has been strenuously contested and latest reports from the front said that struggles around the hill still were continuing.

ment with an enemy force moving westward, apparently to attack our Aitape position," the communique said.

It is believed there are some 45,000 hungry and disease-ridden Jap troops left out of the original force of 60,000 bottled up in the Wevaka area since last April and cut off from all sources of supplies and reinforcements.

Their chances of success against the powerful American forces established at Aitape and Hollandia, 125 miles farther up the New Guinea coast, are regarded as slim.

Some American casualties were sustained in the preliminary engagements, which are believed to have occurred some 20 miles southeast of Aitape itself, but enemy losses were far greater.

Their opening drive halted, frustrated Japanese forces were reported regrouping late Wednesday for a new attack on the Yanks.

Adverse weather curtailed Allied air activity in all sectors of the Southwest Pacific yesterday. But Liberators again blasted the enemy base on Yap Island in the western Carolines.

Many years ago he wrote: "When we come to power, Jewish bodies will dangle from every telegraph pole between Munich and Berlin."

Joins Rudolph Hess

Rosenberg now joins Rudolph Hess as a Nazi has-been, with Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering another contender for entry into these ranks with the failure of his vaunted air force.

Soviet forces grinding on toward the East Prussian frontier apparently have as their objective the city of Königsberg, chief of the Baltic seaports, a thriving industrial metropolis with a great harbor, naval base and garrison.

How soon the Russians actually would surge across the real geographical frontier of Germany was problematical, but the rate of their advance indicated it would not be long delayed. The present Soviet push immediately followed liquidation of the Nazi garrison at Wilno in a bitter five-day battle which cost the Germans 8,000 dead and 5,000 taken prisoner.

Nazis Demoralized

There was every reason to believe the Germans would make a major stand on the East Prussian frontier. But battlefield dispatches, coupled with a gloom radiating from Berlin that was morbid almost to the point of gruesomeness, indicated that Nazi forces in the east have been demoralized by Soviet attacks and by knowledge that in the west, American and British troops were systematically chopping up some of the best units in the German army.

On that blood-soaked battlefield in Normandy, American forces pushed south of La Haye du Puits and within two miles of Lessay. The Nazi DNB agency admitted a withdrawal of the main German line extending from La Haye to the communications center of St. Lo.

Other fronts witnessed unbroken Allied initiative everywhere. Royal Air Force bombers attacked the Ruhr valley of Germany during the night, and in Italy, increased pressure was brought to bear on German defenses along the west coast below the port of Livorno.

From Tokyo came reports that a "powerful" American fleet is "still wandering around" in the waters of the Marianas Islands and admissions that a sea and air attack had been made on the island of Guam.

more the excellent work of the solicitors and the chairman who paid for the advertisements in the campaign. We also appreciate the fine work of Roger Jewett and his staff in the Greater New Castle Association. The campaign headquarters were in the GNCA offices and the tedious detail work of the campaign was all handled there.

By the end of July it is hoped the total will be over the quota by a quarter of a million dollars or more. Work will continue, but so far as the quota is concerned that has been passed. Now all we have to do is get ready for the sixth war loan campaign which will come sometime in November, it is anticipated.

honor had the Fleur Des Lys painted on their hats—they will be wearing into battle. Most of the soldiers had a rifle in one hand and a rosary in the other.

The civilians, dressed in their finest clothes, brought flowers which they placed on the war memorial.

A Canadian army band provided the music—soft hymns during the communion and rousing marches after the cure's fighting sermon.

Deaths of the Day

Mont Woods

Mont Woods, aged 65 years, of the New Castle-Ellwood road, died at 3:15 p. m. Thursday afternoon, after a few weeks illness.

He was the son of Thomas and Alice Woods of Ellwood City. Surviving are his brothers and sisters: Jerry Woods of Butler, Pa., and Lester of East New Castle; Mrs. R. B. Parker of Ellwood City, Earl of Curtisville, Norman of Beaver Falls; Sam of New Castle.

Funeral services will be from the W. D. Porter funeral home, Ellwood City, Saturday at 2:30 p. m., Rev. Pringle in charge. Interment will be in the Harmony Baptist cemetery.

John LaRocco

John LaRocco, aged 68 years, of 102 South Beaver street, died this morning at 7 o'clock at his home after a long illness.

He was born April 6, 1876, in Carbone, Italy, son of Joseph and Isabelle LaRocco. Mr. LaRocco was a member of St. Vitus church. He had been married for 42 years to Mrs. Mary Laita LaRocco, who survives, and he came to America 45 years ago, settling in New Castle. The deceased retired 15 years ago from the Carnegie steel mill, where he was employed as steel worker.

In addition to his wife, he leaves the following children: Mrs. Rose Mitolo, Mrs. Antoinette DiPalma, Donald, Joseph, Samuel, Leonard and Angela.

The body has been removed to the DeCarbo funeral home, East Lorton street, and will be taken to the residence later this afternoon. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

T. R. ROOSEVELT, JR., DIES IN FRANCE

the division's commanding officer Maj. Gen. R. O. Barton declared that he really was a "battle casualty."

Veteran of World War I and of the allied campaigns in the present conflict in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, Gen. Roosevelt went into Normandy on D-day with the leading wave of the Fourth Division which spearheaded the American landings at the southeastern corner of the Cherbourg peninsula.

Was In Front Lines

"Teddy," as he was affectionately known, was in the front lines of many of the bloodiest battles of this war and was acclaimed for instilling courage in all the troops under his command and inspiring them at crucial moments.

Gen. Roosevelt had felt ill for about four days before he died. He went to bed for one afternoon, but then resumed his duties.

On Wednesday he made his accustomed rounds of the front line, returned to camp, had supper and went to bed.

About 9:30 p. m. he called for Dr. Maj. Kenneth M. McPherson, of Beckley, W. Va. Death came at 11:45 p. m. from heart failure.

When the doctor first reached his tent, Gen. Roosevelt asked for something which would give him relief. Shortly after he lapsed into unconsciousness. He remained unconscious until he died.

Gen. Roosevelt, who was under fire as much if not more than any other American in this war, made his battlefield tours without pistol, grenade or carbine. During the invasion he suffered a slight wound in the third wound he sustained in the current war when a piece of shrapnel pierced his hand.

Armored Battle

"The Nazi commentator, was further quoted as saying that a great armored battle is raging along the border of Suwalki province and that the new break-through means the Red army has outflanked Kaunas.

"Another Nazi commentator, Col. Ernest Von Hammer, reported that strong forces of Soviet tanks had shattered German defenses before Brest-Litovsk, site of the peace treaty signed between Germany and Czarist Russia in 1918.

Soviet Marshal Joseph Stalin's order of the day announcing completion of the capture of Wilno revealed that his son took part in the fighting for the city, which had a peacetime population of 209,000.

More than 650 towns and villages were occupied by the Russians yesterday as five powerful Soviet armies smash deeper into Poland and Lithuania.

Eight important railway points west and southwest of Wilno were among the 200 places that fell to the Russians yesterday.

At the northern end of the front Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Second Baltic army occupied more than 130 towns and villages, including the Kalinin province district center of Pushkinskye-Gory. To the south of Yeremenko's advance, Gen. Ivan Bagration's First Baltic army took 29 localities northwest of Polotsk, including Drissa, 60 miles east of Dargavpils.

tions some time tonight. State highway trucks will pick up the township papers.

As the trucks are loaded they will be driven to the Shenango Pottery where they will be unloaded. It is hoped to get upwards of 100 tons which is a lot of paper, but it is here, lying around in attics, cellars and garages.

Every day, paper becomes more vital. The government is urging citizens not to waste an ounce of waste paper but to save it for paper collections. The collection Saturday is for newspapers only, not magazines or cardboard.

To repeat, the plans for the collection are complete. Now all it takes is a lot of paper and this can come only from the folks.

Poggibonsi was posed by French troops of Gen. Alphonse Juin who took the town of San Gimignano and advanced some two miles to the north.

Seize Hill Positions

Indian troops of the British Eighth Army seized Monte Santa Maria and Monte Civitella, two important hill positions dominating the roadway from Arezzo to the south.

The Fifth Army overcame bitter resistance to score its advances. In addition to seizing San Gimignano, important road center which has a population of 11,390, the Fifth took the villages of Pastina and San Luce.

Threatened Terricciola is situated 16 miles east of Livorno.

No appreciable change was reported in the Adriatic sector.

Allied warplanes swept across the Po river valley to bomb bridges, rail lines and ammunition dumps. They also strafed gun positions in the battle area.

After heavyweight bombers smashed at oil storage facilities at Trieste and Porta Marghera, near Venice, in daylight, the railway yards at Milan were bombed during the night.

In all about 1,800 sorties were flown and six Allied planes were listed as missing.

with that of one Rear Admiral Yano, was disclosed by Admiral Nimitz in a communique which also announced that United States marines have landed on another island in the Marianas.

Another Island Taken

Elements of the second marine division landed Wednesday on Manigassa island, two miles north of Mutch Point, on the northwestern side of Saipan. Light Jap resistance was quickly overcome.

As American offensive operations expanded in the Marianas, an artillery bombardment and naval gunfire, intended to neutralize enemy defenses, hammered Tinian island, south of Saipan, suggesting the possibility of new landings in the late Admiral Nagumo's tottering central Pacific command.

Nagumo not only executed the Pearl Harbor attack on Dec. 7, 1941, but he also commanded the Japanese carrier task force that was destroyed by U. S. army, navy and

Jack Benny And Group Arrive At New Guinea Base

GEN DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, July 14.—(INS)—A cavalcade of American entertainers, including radio stars Jack Benny and Martha Tilton, Film Actress Carole Landis, Accordionist June Bruner and Harmonica Virtuoso Larry Adler, arrived at a New Guinea airfield late today.

They will tour American bases in this area and received a tumultuous reception from troops gathered to greet them at the drome.

Lieut. Lanny Ross, former film and radio headliner who now is a special service officer, will conduct them on their tour of New Guinea.

Bastille Day Is Observed In France

NEW YORK July 14—(INS)—

In a special Bastille Day program lauding the people of France, the Russian home radio today estimated that the French forces of the interior now are tying down some 250,000 German troops.

Heard by U. S. government monitors, the announcer quoted the newspaper Trud as the source of his information and praised the French for lowering the morale of the Nazi occupation forces and their puppet administrators.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Civilian Production

WASHINGTON, July 14.—If Germany is in the midst of a major war crisis, we here, it is now obvious, are in the middle of a minor one. A symptom is the row just concluded over whether a start is to be made on civilian production.

On one side is Donald Nelson, chairman of the WAS production board, who has put through orders which will open the way to civilian war production. On the other side are the chiefs of the armed services, abetted with particular zeal by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

Actually, Nelson and the service are not so far apart. What Nelson proposes is a small scale beginning, a kind of test run that will give industry a chance to see how reconversion works.

Patterson and the generals fear that this will add to the stream of workers who are leaving war plants for jobs they hope will be permanent. So long as acute manpower shortages exist in some communities, Patterson argues vehemently, not a single additional worker should go into civilian industry.

Serious Situation

He cites such areas as Akron, Ohio, where the manpower scarcity is so serious that the other day Lieutenant General William Knudsen and rubber director Bradley Dewey flew out to see what they could do to get more men and more production of the nation's rubber capital. The scarcity of heavy duty truck tires will soon hit hard. Manpower shortages almost as serious exist elsewhere.

Behind the dispute of the two wings of the war directorate is something far more fundamental. It is the failure to exercise basic control of key spots and especially over manpower.

It shouldn't be a choice at this stage between all war production and war production with a small sample for civilians. If they could be properly utilized, our resources of men and materials should permit industry to keep on schedule and yet pinch off a small surplus for the first phase of the return to peacetime manufacture.

Blame lies, it seems to me, on both sides. When I was in Detroit last week, a complaint I frequently heard was that the armed services had failed to cut back production of items already in surplus. Whether for fear of a bad reaction in congress or simply through a determination to go doggedly ahead with a program already laid out, war houses are being allowed to fill up with materials that may never be used.

Complicated Business

It's an extremely complicated business, this converting of swords into plowshares when the swords are as complicated as the ones being made for this war. Our knowledge of how to go about the process is frighteningly small.

Little irritants tend to touch off tempers. Patterson saw red at an order approving the use of once scarce materials by toy companies. The materials were not essential but the zealous Patterson feared labor would be attracted from war plants. Approximately 150 toy companies would take a labor force of about 15,000. Twenty-one of these companies were in Chicago, where the labor shortage is acute.

At the same time General Eisenhower was sending urgent requests for more mobile guns of large calibre. The demand for tanks was stepped up. Offshore bargages made it necessary to rebore many naval guns. All this as steel production schedules fell behind.

When he is aroused, the undersecretary can stand as a model for outraged Robespierre. Occasionally his fanaticism may have been misdirected. But if full production for the long pull ahead, as Eisenhower means, then the beginning of peacetime business, then it's face it.

This is our tide. Let's not miss it by standing on the bank and debating what will come after victory.

CRANKMIRE ON GRUMBING
Old Crankmire heard us grumblers all:

"Too high the tax, our tasks too great.
Too many trials, large and small!"

And pushing by his cup and plate,
He banged the table and he said:

"With shame your faces should be red!
"Suppose unto this table now
Could come the humblest boy who died

To sit with us, and tell us how
He gave his life on freedom's side,
Would one of you look up and say:
"I worked eight hours many a day?"

"Suppose a blue star changed to gold,
And you are asked to visit there
To sit at table, and be told
How glad he was to do his share:

Will you reply to talk so brave:
"I walked a mile some gas to save?"
"Suppose when victory is won
(And oh I pray that soon may be)
There will return a neighbor's son
Whom ever again will never see
Will you 'dear God forbid the thought!
Remind him of the bonds you bought?"

"You answer: 'Soldiers grumble, too!'
If so, theirs is the better right.
They have the suffering to do:
They stand to battle day and night:

They do their duty, though they die:
Their grumbling they can justify."

A GOOD CONVERSATIONIST

One of the most frequent questions in my mail is—"Please give me hints on becoming a good conversationalist. In a group of intimate friends, I am entirely at ease but let several strangers come in and I am tongue-tied—can't think of a thing to say."

Answer: People are more interested in acquiring poise and conversational finesse than any other social asset. And small wonder! The poised person makes not only himself happy but creates ease and camaraderie in all gatherings. The shy, timid person, on the contrary, infects all surrounding him with his uneasiness. Timidity and self-consciousness can be conquered.

Some of the world's greatest men and women have had to overcome these handicaps. Beethoven and Tennyson, for example, suffered from timidity among strangers. . . yet both overcame this deficiency and became noted conversationalists.

There is no "sure fire" way of developing this shy, sensitive reticent person into a brilliant talker but he can help himself in overcoming this difficulty by exercising his will power to assert himself. Then he will soon forget all about his shyness. Concentration on one's shyness will but increase it. Concentration, instead, should be upon the other guests and what is being said by them. This technique requires constant effort, but it will eventually succeed. During the process of developing poise and ease mingle as much as possible with people and if necessary force yourself into conversation. Eventually, you will learn to enjoy it, especially if during your turn at speaking you refrain from talking about yourself and from being too opinionated in social gatherings, avoid political, religious and racial controversy as you would the plague.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDIS

The last luncheon of The Ban-shees, that famous club of artists, writers, publishers, newspapermen and others prominent in the profession and in public life, was given in honor of S. S. McClure, 83-year-old publisher and editor.

There was singing and comedy and other entertainment, and then the venerable guest of honor made his speech.

Only four minutes had been allotted to him—the Ban-shees don't like speech-making—but when he had used up his time, 300 blase men shouted "Mazel More!"

So, McClure, a bit feeble on his feet but as strong as ever in mind, went on.

He told of how he persuaded Robert Louis Stevenson to go to the South Seas for him, he told of other famous authors whom he had signed up and the audience listened, spell-bound, to every word.

Then, McClure told of his own career. How he came here from Ireland, as a boy, with just a dollar in his pocket. How he went looking for jobs, and did all the usual mental chores of the young immigrant.

But when he told of his marriage and how his wife struggled with him and helped him climb the ladder of success and shared his joys and his sorrows alike with him, there were tears in many an eye, and every last one of the celebrities present realized that, after all, success is not in how high you go but in how you act and what you put into life while climbing.

When his talk was almost done, McClure said that he did not think he was qualified to give advice to others.

Most Essential

"But if I were asked," he said, "what I consider the most essential things in life, I would say, after many years of living, that they are kindness and integrity."

Kindness and Integrity

Here is a wealthy man, a man who has hob-nobbed with kings and millionaires and giants of mind and pocket-book. Who gives as his most important qualifications for success two character traits which are within the reach of everyone.

You are limited in brain power. You can't get rich unless you have the knack of making money. You may not have the power of speech that makes you a great politician, the power of creation that makes you a great artist, the power of grasp that makes you a millionaire.

But kindness and integrity are yours from earliest childhood. You need not acquire them, but you may lose them.

What none of your other gifts or talents may get you, kindness and integrity will—happiness and the joy of living.

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

FEEDING THE SMALL CHILD

"Dear Dr. Myers: In what manner should a two-year-old be fed? Should she still eat at a high chair by herself, or should she sit at our table? Should I feed her still or let her feed herself? When I let her feed herself, she spills every thing and gets herself, chair, and floor in a mess. When I do feed her, she turns her head from side to side. She does not seem to like anything but eggs, meat, and milk."

"All fruit and vegetables and cereals she must be fed, and no eating by reciting nursery rhymes or singing. For some reason or other she cries at her meals. I have tried putting her at her own small table but she gets up and leaves it. Also we have had her at ours, but she pulls at everything, upsetting and spilling cream and so forth. Of course she has eaten nothing on the table not good for a two-year-old. I am so distracted that I almost dread when the meal time comes around."

My answer to her, in part: This particular child had better eat alone at a low table, sitting comfortably on a low chair. By all means let her feed herself. Have no other adult near. Place about a teaspoonful of the most essential food on a plate on the table with a spoon near it. Let her know that the food is there and let her choose whether she wants to go to it or not. Say nothing about her eating. Act like a machine. Go about your business, preferably out of the room.

Return in about four minutes. If she has not yet begun to eat the food, remove it and carry it to the kitchen. Use just your hands, except to announce that the meal has ended. Regardless of her response, let her have no more food until the next regular meal time. The most important thing is not to scold.

If she has eaten the food, give her a very small portion of the next important food. Let her have a "second" only after she has eaten the "first" of each of my special but, "Eating Problems, Their Prevention and Correction," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City.

Keep your scales hidden for at least two weeks, for she may lose weight at first. Once she has eaten yourself against serving her large helpings. Continue for months with one food on her plate at a time. It might be well to cover her and the floor with oilcloth material, and be immune yourself to the mess. Water is abundant and the child will spill. Consult your physician if you need assurance of your child's nutritional state.

Luftwaffe Through Says General Arnold
Air Commander Says Their Sun Has Set
Douglas Seen As Compromise Candidate

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the United States Army Air Force, has supplied the answer to the question of military men all over the world: "Where is the German air force?"

Arnold, who should know, has expressed the opinion that the Luftwaffe may never rise as a fighting force to meet the Allied invasion of Europe. The reason: There is no German air force in the modern meaning of the term.

This does not mean that Germany has no airplanes. But it does mean, however, that Germany's remaining air strength has been so dispersed that it is impossible to gather it into one effective striking force.

Arnold gives credit for the erasure of the Luftwaffe to American and British bomber forces who struck relentlessly at industrial targets and reduced the Nazi plane production capacity to the vanishing point.

As an example of what happened to the German air force in the invasion, Arnold learned it was disclosed that 700 Nazi planes were ordered to converge on airports near the French invasion coast, but only 350 arrived—the others were destroyed en route. Of the 350 that arrived, only 200 were in shape to take off to meet the tremendous air superiority put in the skies from England.

To add to the industrial woes of the Nazis, Arnold disclosed that destruction of Germany's oil refining capacity now has top priority on the Allied Air Forces' bombing list. There were 55 major refineries in the Reich.

Now, Arnold said, all have been hit and largely destroyed, to cut the Nazis' oil and gasoline refining capacity to less than 30 per cent of normal.

President Roosevelt still is reported to want Vice President Henry A. Wallace as his fourth-term running mate as the hour for the Democratic national convention approaches.

Wallace, on his way back from China and Russia, is almost certain to be on hand in Chicago's mammoth Stevens hotel and sprawling Municipal Stadium when Democrats start their session, July 19.

But despite Mr. Roosevelt's evident desires, he is bound to meet opposition to Wallace within the party, and he does not desire to cause too serious a split in the ranks.

The result is that the president will go just so far in pressing for the choice of Wallace, and then bow to the majority of the forces opposing him.

As for a southern vice presidential candidate, such probably is not the president's idea.

Failing to get Wallace with the approval of the delegates, he may put his weight back of young Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Mr. Roosevelt believes, according to observers, that Douglas is a liberal who would be acceptable to all factions.

Chances of the southern bloc obtaining the nomination of House Speaker Sam Rayburn or Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley are remote indeed.

If it is not Wallace—then, political observers say, Douglas will be the vice presidential compromise.

Despite what some observers are interpreting as signs that sugar rationing may be liberalized, there won't be any easing of it this year or next so far as consumers are concerned.

The reasons are: Western sugar beet growers did not get all the subsidy they wanted, and the 1944 beet acreage is not as large as last year's; the 1945 Cuban acreage is expected to be smaller.

The fact that industrial users got an increase in allowances has no significance so far as sugar to consumers is concerned; that was a move in part to encourage production of food that also would use eggs, thus cutting into the surplus piled up by the nation's laying flocks.

The current allotment, not likely to be increased, is five pounds per person each two-and-a-half months, plus up to 25 pounds per person for home canning.

Hints On Etiquette

At a wedding it is not necessary for the bride and groom to bid the guests goodbye. They usually slip away unnoticed, or at least they try to.

Words Of Wisdom

The secret of success is constancy of purpose.—Disraeli.

MELTING POT HONOR ROLL

Silver stars, living crosses and air medals were awarded the other day to 43 Americans. Here are the names of 24 of them:

Belkin, Biedanski, Blecken, Carbone, Bibbia, Ellingsen, Gindog, Gruchow, Kahan, Kark, Katz, Kelly, Larsen, Mehlman, Markin, Monaghan, Puzan, Puglisi, Relva, Ritzenthaler, Sassone, Stober, Walck, Weintraub.

What country other than the Melting Pot could produce a patriotic amalgam so heavily compounded of ingredients of alien origin?

Some of these men may come of families that have been here for generations; some many have been born in other lands and been recently transplanted. But all are here because they or their forebears wanted something America could give—and all are giving themselves and risking again, all comforts.

It is inspiring to reflect upon what Europe has contributed and is contributing through its offspring, to freedom in America—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

What People Say

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt, accepting credentials of Pedro Beltrán, new ambassador from Peru.

From Peru, the most terrible phase of the unparalleled struggle in which we are engaged is still before us and the United Nations must look forward to great suffering and enormous sacrifices before the inevitable victory is won.

ALBANY—Herbert Brownell, Jr., national Republican chairman, "Mr. Roosevelt is the first of the 32 presidents of the United States to claim the title of commander-in-chief makes him a soldier."

WASHINGTON—Attorney L. Gates, assistant navy secretary for air: "We must keep our naval air force the best in the world. The war has demonstrated that it is the spearhead of the navy."

PARAN, U.S.—surgeon general: "There has been too little light and too much heat in our discussions of the socialization of medicine."

Coming Political Campaign

Although the real campaign will not start for several weeks political commentators are already speculating on the kind of campaign which will be held. Just what it will be is anybody's guess. Even the leaders themselves are not definitely certain. A great deal depends on national and international conditions during September and October.

It is pointed out that the campaign will not be so spectacular as usual in any event. The people have their minds on the war and their chief interest is when complete victory can be won and the boys can get back home.

It is now certain that President Roosevelt will be the Democratic candidate. At the Republican convention in Chicago no other man was even discussed as the possible opponent of the G.O.P. nominee. It is probable that President Roosevelt will not wage a publicly active campaign for the presidency. His administration is busy with the war.

Governor Dewey is busy handling the affairs of New York, the first state in economic importance in the country. It is not believed he will make an extended tour of the country unless President Roosevelt makes one similar to the "visit of defense plants" which he made in 1940.

The soldier vote will play a decisive part in the campaign. Some political speculators believe that President Roosevelt may go to France between now and the election, not ostensibly on a political errand but to visit the Army in the field. If he does do this, some political prophets are predicting that Governor Dewey may fly to the front, too. However, this would not be at all certain in any event. A great deal will depend on the advice of the Republican leadership in case such a contingency arises.

Nobody knows just what the situation will be in Europe during what are the usually heated days of the campaign. It may be that a final and deadly military struggle will be in progress. If so the people will pay comparatively little attention to the political campaign and doubtless the efforts of the political leaders on both sides will be toned down as the occasion demands. On the other hand everyone hopes that the hardest fighting will be over soon. It is then this fact would affect the strategy of the political campaign in a way that is yet to be determined.

Epic Fight Of Saipan

The fighting on Saipan has been the bitterest, and American casualties have been the heaviest, of any encounter by American troops with the Japs since the Philippines. The Jap fought fanatically to hold Saipan because he knows that every acre of territory wrested from him from now on will be turned into air and other bases to be used against the Nipponese mainland.

One of the chief Japanese worries now is the B-29. So far the Japs have developed no defense against this plane. Chief American weakness is supply through the difficult western approaches to China. But every bit of land seized from Japan from this day on is a potential B-29 base in waters controlled by the

Rome Progress Under Allied Rule Is Cited

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, July 14.—Rome, not so long ago an "Axis capital," is today a colorful, over-crowded city efficiently ruled by the allied military government.

Except for the smart military touch, the city looks much like the beautiful and peaceful place it did when I was here ten years ago when Benito Mussolini, old strong-jaw himself, was Italy's dominating figure.

General Harry Hubbard Johnson, commander of the Rome area, a pleasant, soft-speaking Texan from Houston, is trying to handle the allied occupation in a manner that will reflect credit upon Americans. And he is succeeding. He assured me one of his chief concerns is that American officers and soldiers behave well and they are.

Nazis Committed Atrocities
After all, the Germans, when they had the iron heel on the eternal city, made an outward pretense of correct behavior although when their ire was aroused they did commit atrocities that the people of Rome will never forget.

We correspondents who entered Rome when the city fell to the American troops will always remember the wild acclaim with which the Rome population greeted the Americans. Everybody seemed to want to be your friend. The city was ours.

Yet, in the days that have since passed, we have observed a lot of sleek-looking Italians who certainly were Fascists until they saw the jig was up. They certainly could not have changed their stripes overnight. Outwardly, however, they are now all for us.

Colonel Charles Poletti, newly-appointed regional commissioner for the Rome area, is well aware that Rome reeks with Fascists and he is trying to do a job on them. It couldn't be surprising, either, if here in our midst are plenty of German spies.

To Remove Fascists
Poletti, formerly lieutenant governor of New York state, intends to remove all Fascists or Fascist sympathizers still holding public office. He has been in constant consultation with members of the Italian resistance movement.

He also said that firms which exercise a monopoly, such as the four building corporations which had been doled out all construction in Rome as a result of Fascist connections, would be denied public contracts under the present allied administration.

Colonel Poletti's activities have been directed along the line of:
1—Getting food to the people of Rome who need it. Restoration of the central produce market in Rome was part of this program.

2—Eliminating the black market and setting a price list on vegetables, fruits, milk and other essential foods.

3—Inducing allied troops to dine in army, rather than civilian restaurants.

Tons upon tons of food have been pouring into Rome to take care of the hungry. At this writing the bread ration has been raised from 100 to 150 grams per day.

This free feeding of the needy is in addition to the regular ration issued at basic price to everyone each day, and consisting of 150 grams of bread per day, 10 grams of olive oil, 35 grams of sugar, 12½ grams of dried vegetables (peas and beans), 133 grams of canned meats, 65 grams of salt and 23 grams of soap.

Nobody is going hungry in Rome today, thanks to the forces of liberation.

LONDON.—(INS)—English girls who have married American soldiers are being taught something of the country in which they will live after the war at a series of lecture meetings in the American Red Cross Rainbow club.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, The United States Coast Guard is the nation's oldest sea-going fighting force, having been created in 1790 by an Act of Congress, approved by President George Washington; and

WHEREAS, the Coast Guard, first known as the Revenue Cutter Service, has participated valiantly in every war, serving the nation in the present conflict by guarding our shores, carrying invasion forces to enemy bastions, protecting the convoys of supplies, and smashing their sinister U-boats; and

WHEREAS, in the time of peace the Coast Guard has conducted well and faithfully its task of life-saving, ice-breaking, and maintaining Aids to Navigation; and

WHEREAS, Coast Guard SPARS are now aiding immeasurably in the fight against the aggressors by filling shore jobs, formerly held by Coast Guardsmen; and

WHEREAS, Friday, August 4, will mark the 154th Anniversary of the founding of the Revenue Cutter Service, which later became the Coast Guard;

NOW THEREFORE, on behalf of the city of New Castle, Pa., I hereby salute the United States Coast Guard, St. Louis, 9th Naval District, and proclaim Friday, August 4, 1944 as COAST GUARD DAY, throughout the city of New Castle, Pa.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I HEREBY SUBSCRIBE BY MY NAME AND CAUSE THE GREAT SEAL OF THE CITY OF NEW CASTLE, PA., TO BE AFFIXED THIS 14TH OF JULY, 1944.

JOHN F. HAVEN, Mayor.

Yanks Drive Upon Lessay

U. S. Forces Advance Steadily Against Nazi Defenses In Cherbourg Area

By KINGSBURY SMITH
U. S. Staff Correspondent

SUPREMACY HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 14.—With German troops officially reported carrying out an orderly withdrawal along the entire battlefield below the Cherbourg peninsula, American troops today stepped to within 2,000 yards of Lessay.

"Useful advances" by forces of the United States First Army have placed the Americans astride the main road connecting Lessay with La Haye Du Puits.

The Americans took the town of Auzais, repelling an enemy counter-attack in that region while a new gain of 500 yards was made along the main road leading southwest from captured Santeuil.

On the eastern sector of the Normandy battlefield, 40 German tanks which were forming up in front of the British line south of Etreville for a counter-attack were destroyed by artillery fire.

American forces captured the important road center of Les Champes De Logue and two small hamlets, west of the road connecting Esauville with La Bincellerie. Advances were made 500 yards south of Les Champes De Logue.

The Germans appeared to be pulling out of the western Cherbourg front in the face of punishing American artillery, armor and infantry assaults.

Soldier Brothers Meet After 4½ Years

Mr. and Mrs. John Dado, of 1211 Cascade street, have received word that their sons, Cpl. John Dado, of the military police detachment in Italy and Sgt. Michael Dado, of the anti-aircraft service, have met in Italy for the first time in 4½ years.

Mike enlisted in March, 1940, and was in the Canal Zone for three years and 10 months, then back here for 21 days furlough, then to Georgia and left in March for North Africa. He was corresponding with Johnny, 1½ years in service, and knew his location, and being transferred to Italy. Mike met John July 3 for three hours. They had their pictures taken and will send them home. Cpl. Dado met a soldier cousin from Scienceville, O., in June.

The Community Prayer Band will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Jessie White, 708 State street.

South Side Prayer Band will meet in the home of Mrs. Mary Robinson, 212 Mahoningtown avenue Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

ALLIES STILL POURING SUPPLIES ON TO BEACHHEAD

TAKEN FROM A HILLSIDE overlooking part of the Allied invasion beachhead in Normandy, this panorama shows the waters black with shipping as reinforcements and supplies pour ashore in an endless stream. Barrage balloons float overhead as trucks, troops, ammunition and other military equipment move inland toward the fighting front. This is an official U. S. Coast Guard photo. Supersedeas Is Denied By Court In License Case

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(INS)—The Superior court in Philadelphia today refused Hyman Darling, of Pittsburgh, a supersedeas on his appeal from an Allegheny court decision which upheld the state liquor control board's revocation of his restaurant liquor license.

Darling, who operates Darling's bar and restaurant, 804 Federal street, Pittsburgh, sought the supersedeas to that he could carry on his business while the court considered the appeal.

He charged that the liquor control board, which revoked his license on April 27, was "too severe," declaring that he has $20,000 invested in the business which he acquired by a transfer from his son-in-law, Albert A. Grosser, last December.

Darling was cited by the board February 16 for violations which included selling to intoxicated persons, maintaining gambling devices, unsanitary conditions, permitting the help to mingle with patrons, and not maintaining a bonafide restaurant.

The Allegheny county court denied his appeal and sustained the board on June 6.

HARLANSBURG

WIENER ROAST

The regular meeting night of the Harlansburg Y. T. C. has been changed to the last Monday evening of the month. A campfire meeting, followed by a wiener roast, will be enjoyed at the home of Marian and Mildred McConnell Monday evening, July 31.

GARDEN CLUB PICNIC

Members of the Harlansburg Garden club will have their annual picnic on Wednesday, July 19, at Rock Springs park, with Mrs. Myrna Miller as hostess. A picnic dinner will be served at noon, while games will be played during the afternoon.

HARLANSBURG NOTES

Missing Baby Is Found In New York

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—Six-month-old Barbara Anne Goggin, who disappeared mysteriously from the New York Foundling hospital yesterday, was found unharmed today in company of a navy chief petty officer and a woman.

The child, object of the greatest search since the Lindbergh kidnapping 12 years ago, was found in a West Side apartment. Still attached to the infant's ankle was the hospital's identification tag. She was in "excellent condition."

The infant was brought to a police station, and details of the disappearance from the institution were not made public immediately by the authorities.

Circus Fire Here

ONE OF THE HEROES of the circus fire at Hartford, Conn., which resulted in a death toll of 160, is eight-year-old Donald Anderson. He used his knife to cut an opening in the tent canvas, releasing himself and many others. (International)

Travels, Yes, But In One Spot Only

Four Miles Or More, Up And Down, Isn't Way To Get Places, Operators Find

With everyone else restricted when it comes to travel, the elevator operators are covering the miles the same as they always did.

Few of them keep track of just how far they do travel in one day, but considering the size of several of the buildings in town, and the number of trips made in a day, it seems that many of them manage to work in at least a mile, and usually more.

One operator, who out of curiosity kept a record of his trips for one week, found that he averaged 250 trips a day in one of the taller buildings in town—a distance of over two and one-half miles a day. On days when he was really busy, the operator traveled four and a half miles up and down.

Asked if they like the jobs, most of the operators reply that there is a good variety of traveling companions, but that the scenery is rather limited. The job is no substitute for pre-war touring.

And Sure Enough He Made It Rain

THE PANAMA CANAL.—(INS)—The Runway, a Sixth Air Force publication, reports a monumental piece of roofing by a San Blas Indian at a softball game.

His favorite team was behind and the little, bob-haired fellow was in a position of supplication.

"What's the matter?" asked a soldier.

"It's fourth inning," replied the Indian, who worked on the post way behind. "I make medicine for rain. I make medicine for rain."

A few minutes later a downpour hit the field and the game was cancelled.

Inventory Coupons Must Be Replaced

HARRISBURG, July 14.—(INS)—All gasoline inventory coupons will become invalid at midnight tonight and must be replaced with deposit certificates, the Harrisburg district office of price administration declared today.

Dealers must exchange deposit certificates for gasoline from distributors, who will bank them the same as inventory coupons. Distributors must endorse the certificates for ration bank accounts.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

PORTAGE—Miss Ruth Berkau, 19, of Portage township in Cambria County, met her brother, Fred, 39, for the first time at a family reunion at Detroit. The Berkau clan, consisting of 10 children, assembled for the first time in 21 years.

PHILADELPHIA—A personal letter of commendation from General Dwight D. Eisenhower for a bond sales record more than compensated for the work of 10-year-old Arthur Klein, of Philadelphia. He totaled more than $183,000 in war bonds in the last three drives.

ERIE—Capt. George W. Zinz, former Erie minister, has a date in Munich after the war. One of the German nurses he escorted to a prisoner exchange place told him, "I'll see you in Munich and buy you a drink of cognac."

SOMERSET—Walter Orris, 40, of Windber, disagreed that "there is honor among thieves" when he was released from the Somerset county prison with a postponed sentence for forgery. He was soon reincarcerated on larceny charges for stealing a fellow prisoner's watch.

AMBRIDGE—"I think we may be home by November of this year," optimistically wrote Cpl. Andrew Harsh of Ambridge from a post in France. "The Americans are here," he said, "and the Allied forces will see that it will never happen again for we shall have forever lasting peace when this is over."

Hinkson Recalls
Morgan's Raiders

Tipstaff At Court House Recalls How Local Farmers Massed To Repel Attack

Few local citizens can remember back 81 years ago, when General John H. Morgan, of Confederate fame, threatened the peace and security of the local district by raiding through the state of Ohio, creating a reign of terror, and how local citizens massed to repel the raiders in this direction. But one local citizen, T. J. Hinkson, veteran tipstaff at the courthouse, recalls that stirring occasion.

Mr. Hinkson, now in his 87th year, remembers that word that the raiders were coming this way was flashed about during the Sunday church hour, and instead of continuing with the services, most of the men in the East Brook district, where he then resided, returned to their homes, armed themselves with shotguns, squirrel rifles and other suitable weapons and marched to New Castle to join in repelling the threatened attack.

Farmers Contend,
Girl Helpers Are Better Than Boys

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—Farmers prefer girls to boys when it comes to hiring inexperienced farm help. That was the consensus of farmers interviewed by the Department of Rural Sociology at Cornell. They had all used help from 15 youth camps operated last summer to relieve the farm labor shortage.

The farmers said the girls were more cheerful workers, were less inclined to play while at work, were more persevering, and did not tire as easily, especially in the late afternoons. The older girls were especially preferred, as they were more serious, less easily fatigued and maintained an interest in their work.

Testimony of farmers indicated that the youths were successful as farm workers. Only one out of each four of the youth workers were boys, practically all under 19 years of age.

ALL WORK AND ALSO PLAY WILL RULE HERE
DELAWARE, O.—(INS)—I will not be "all work and no play" for faculty and students at Ohio Wesleyan University in the future. The university has acquired a 150-acre farm, which will be made into a huge playground. The house, barn and other buildings will be used as social and recreational centers. The fields will contribute crops and live stock for the dormitory tables.

Lieut. Col. Roosevelt Is Reported Wounded

Last Surviving Son Of Late President Disclosed As Wounded On Biak Island

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 14.—(INS)—The family of Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was grief-stricken today after receiving official word that the general, son of the late president "Teddy" Roosevelt, had died in Normandy, and also that his brother, Lieut. Col. Archibald Roosevelt, was wounded.

Col. Roosevelt, last surviving son of the late president, was disclosed to have been wounded in Biak Island in the Pacific and since then has suffered an attack of bronchitis pneumonia.

Two other sons of the first Theodore Roosevelt have lost their lives in American wars. Maj. Kermit Roosevelt died June 5, 1943, while on duty in Alaska. Lieut. Quentin Roosevelt was shot down while serving as a pilot in World War I.

The widow of Gen. Roosevelt was prostrate in her Oyster Bay home today as other members of the family gathered to comfort her. Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt came to Oyster Bay from nearby Cold Spring Harbor. The news of both tragedies was broken gently to 82-year-old widow of the first President Roosevelt in her Connecticut home.

Gen. Roosevelt is survived by his widow and three sons in the armed

Plan Building Of Powerful Stations

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—Equipment for construction of two short wave broadcasting stations, twice as powerful as any existing American facilities has been purchased by the OWI, the Federal Telephone & Radio Corp., Newark, disclosed today.

The transmitters will be located on the west coast and will assure reception of American broadcasts from India to Siberia, it was said.

East Brady Boxer Dies From Burns

PITTSBURGH, July 14.—(INS)—The death toll in a four-alarm fire at an East Liberty rooming house yesterday rose to two today with the death of Joey Senich, 17, welterweight boxer of East Brady.

Senich, who was carried from the blazing structure by firemen, succumbed to his burns in a hospital today. Only two days ago he appeared in a bout at Hickey park, losing a decision to Jimmy Bagamery in the semi-final.

NAZIS TEACH CIVILIANS TO SHOOT

THIS PICTURE of three civilians at rifle practice on a target range in some unidentified town square in Germany is captioned with an enemy boast that millions of civilians are being trained to shoot. Storm Troopers are in charge of the training, says the enemy, and ranges are everywhere. Evidently there's doubt of Nazi "invincibility." (International)

AROUND CITY HALL

There is good fishing at Cascade park and many of the children of the community are taking advantage of the wholesome recreation, according to C. C. Coulthard, manager.

Resident's Relative Dies In Baltimore

Word has been received here that Charles K. Cooper, aged 54 years, of Tucson, Ariz., died in the Marine hospital, Baltimore, Md., Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

He is the brother of Mrs. S. E. Irvine, and brother-in-law of Rev. S. E. Irvine of 1401 Highland avenue. For 25 years he was connected with the Department of Agriculture and was also associated with the government rubber project in Mexico, since the outbreak of the war. A son, Lt. Bill Cooper, of the Marine Air Corps, survives and a daughter, Nancy, who makes her home with Rev. and Mrs. Irvine, this city.

Burial will be in Tucson, Ariz.

Signal Corps Award Presented Bell Telephone Company Of Pennsylvania For Outstanding Service

The Chief Signal Officer's Certificate of Appreciation "for loyal and patriotic services rendered the Signal Corps of the Army of the United States" was awarded the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania today at special ceremonies in the company's headquarters building in Philadelphia. The award is designed as a testimonial to organization and individuals who have performed outstanding services beyond the normal requirements of duty.

The telephone company was among the organizations which participated in a vast recruiting program during the early days of the war, when specialized communications personnel were vitally needed by the Signal Corps in a period of unprecedented expansion. Large organizations recruited entire signal units from within their own employees and in most cases supplied both officers and enlisted personnel.

The Bell Company now has a total of 1,436 employees in the armed forces, more than half of them in the Signal Corps.

Senator O'Daniel Spurs Spotlight

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(INS)—Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel (D., Tex.) today decided an offer from the American National Democratic party, an anti-New Deal organization, that he run as its presidential candidate next fall.

"I am not running for anything," O'Daniel said. "I'm only trying to remind my own business as a United States Senator and keep the people informed about the real skulduggery that is going on in Washington."

O'Daniel said he would not attend the rebel Democratic faction's meeting in Chicago next week, and also denied membership in the group.

The first Victory Suggestion Award, the highest honor to be given a civilian employee of the war department for practical suggestions to speed the winning of the war, was presented to Dayton R. Ludlow of the Office of the Chief of Transportation Army Service Forces, for devising a new and improved method of loading army ordnance material on railroad flat cars.

Hunt Truck Farmer, Victim Of Amnesia

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—A posse of state police and Boy Scouts tramped through the rain-soaked roads of lower Providence township today in search of a 25-year-old truck farmer believed to have suffered an attack of amnesia.

The missing man, William Shamline, wandered from his home early Tuesday evening. Other searchers hunted near Perkiomen creek, fearing he may have drowned.

Plan Observance Of Anniversary Of Coast Guard

Mayor And Councilmen Visited By Commander Arranging Event
On August 4

Commander Francis W. Leahy, United States Coast Guard Reserve, visited Mayor John F. Haven and councilman colleagues during their session Thursday in city hall preparatory to arranging for the celebration of the 154th birthday of the oldest military service in the United States, the Coast Guard, on Aug. 4.

The Coast Guard was created by the Alexander Hamilton tariff act which established the Revenue Cutter service, a fleet of 10 small armed sailing vessels.

As time passed the lifesaving service, the Lighthouse service and finally in 1943, the Marine Inspection service were incorporated into what is known today as the United States Coast Guard and it is the only military service having regular peace-time duties.

It has played a great role in the present war, both in the Atlantic and the Pacific and on the lakes and inland rivers in this country.

Whenever there is a flood, a tornado, a blizzard or any other disaster the Coast Guard springs into action immediately and as Commander Leahy informed the city officials yesterday: "We are always ready to serve."

All of the male Coast Guard members in this district are on active duty with some ship. Their jobs, such as clerical, have been taken over by women who are showing the same spirit as their brothers and fathers.

Accident Record Goes Up In May

March And May Have Most Industrial Accidents Of First Five Months Of 1944

March and May were the most dangerous months of the first five in 1944, according to statistics on industrial accidents compiled by the State Department of Labor and Industry.

A total of 11,109 accidents, 134 of which were fatal, were reported for May, and a total of 11,326, 133 of which were fatal, for March. Of the 33,144 accidents reported between the first of January and the end of May, 601 were fatal.

Mining Accidents

Coal mining is the most hazardous occupation, judged by the number of accidents, with iron and steel manufacturing coming in second. Anthracite and bituminous mining together accounted for 7,131 accidents during the five-month period while iron and steel manufacturing accounted for 5,293.

Bruises were the most common type of industrial accidents. Sprains, strains, and dislocations were second, and fractures were third. Infections, burns, and scalds were also common.

Seventy-three per cent of the accidents in May were temporary, causing disability for over seven days, however. Temporary disability not exceeding seven days was caused by over twenty-three per cent of the accidents. One and two-tenths per cent were fatal.

"Unsafe acts" are the major cause of accidents, accounting for 10,547 of the 11,109 accidents reported for May. Among unsafe acts are included using defective tools or equipment, overloading, crowding, working or moving on dangerous equipment, distracting attention, operating at unsafe speed.

Old Cars Salvaged
At Freight Yards

Car Shop Men Reclaim Old Metal:
Rebuild Much Needed Freight Cars

Assembly line tactics can be used in repair work as well as in manufacture, as the men at the Pennsylvania Railroad car shop here have proved.

Limitations on the number of new cars which the company could obtain led to the increased salvaging and use of old parts in remaking the much needed freight cars which get the war goods where it's needed.

Thirty-five Per Cent

Estimating that 35 per cent of the metal in the old cars is saved and reused, John Weber, car shop foreman, says that the intensified salvage effort has been going on for about a year and a half, or two years.

By following the tracks on which the old cars are standing, you can see the whole process of repair. First the old wood is stripped off and the good parts of it salvaged. The rest is piled up and what isn't taken by those who need it, is burned along the tracks.

Rusted Metal Cut Out

Next, the metal frame of the cars is gone over, and the pieces with rusted parts are taken off. All the rusted pieces are cut out. New steel pieces are welded in, the part is heated in a furnace, is pressed back into shape, and is used again, either in the same car, or in the remaking of another one.

Further down, the car frames, complete with remade parts, are being fitted up with new wooden wall made from the old wood or from the stacks of new lumber piled along the tracks. Finally, the cars are painted and stand at the end of the line, ready once more for service on the roads.

This is the job, done to the accompaniment of noise, heat, and dirt. It takes over four hundred men to do it, but it helps keep the freight trains going until the war shortages are over.

Penicillin Saves
Young Girl's Life

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—Lyvonn Fleether, 18, of Homestead, will soon be back at her job at Transcontinental & Western Air-lines in Pittsburgh, thanks to the magic drug penicillin.

Miss Fleether was stricken with labor pneumonia and emphysema, an infection of the pleural cavity. Two operations plus the use of an oxygen tent failed to improve her condition. Her doctors and her family became reconciled to her certain death.

But that was last spring, and Miss Fleether is out of the hospital now and gaining back the 30 pounds she lost in her fight with death.

Employed as a last resort, 1,800,000 units of penicillin had cast the decision in her favor.

"Penicillin is really a miracle," the grateful girl declared.

Park Waterfalls Seldom Noticed Now

Spot Which Gave Cascade Park
Early Fame Is Now An Out-
Of-The-Way Corner

Once noted for the scenic waterfall that partially gave the place its name and early fame, most of Cascade park has long since circled away from the spot that used to attract many visitors.

The waterfall is really out of the way for those who are at the park for rides on the amusements or picnics in the grove, but for those who have time to take a stroll, or who would rather picnic on rocks than on tables, it still is a place worth noticing.

During the dry weather, the falls is not heavy. The whole top of one large flat rock is left bare, with the water falling only over one side of the drop. Above the natural falls, the water comes over the dam in little faucet-streams of water.

The rocks are still large, cool black surfaces shaded by the tall evergreens growing along the river, but the sign by the bridge leading to the falls says "To Swimming Pool and Grove." Instead of "To The Falls." Apparently too many people have seen Niagara.

Altoona Mayor In
Dan Cupid Role

ALTOONA, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—While it was not proposed by Mayor H. Atlee Brumbaugh that the office of mayor in Altoona be made a matrimonial agency, he nevertheless could not entirely ignore a request such as the one received from Thomas A. Mullane of Piedmont, W. Va.

Mullane wonders if there was a girl left in Altoona, who was not married, not a sweetheart of some boy "over there," not a member of the WAC, WAVE or SPAR organization, or otherwise completely unattached. "Not too wild, not too tame and likes some adventure," who would be contented in marriage and become wife and business partner of "a sort of quiet fellow who was not bad looking, aged 28."

Mullane adds that he was not in the army because he didn't pass his final tests and that if there was such a girl he would like to hear from her.

Peanut butter that gets too dry to spread when the jar is nearly empty, may be made into small balls and dipped in powdered sugar. This makes a tasty bite that the children will like.

Syria's 1,125,000 goats produced 600 tons of hair for making tents and carpets in the last year.

Expect Changes In Returning Heroes

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Jan. 14.—(INS)—Families and relatives were warned today to be prepared to meet the personality changes of servicemen returning from overseas duty.

Lieut. Manuel M. Pearson, of the Neuro-Psychiatric service at the naval hospital annex, in Swarthmore, said many veterans may show "a terrific amount of anger and irritation."

He explained that it would take them some time to readjust themselves because "they can't live a long time on ships and in jungles without aggression developing."

South Side Board Meets

Members Will Give Full Cooperation To Plan For Recreational Centers

Holding a dinner meeting Thursday evening at The Castleton Hotel, the South Side Board of Trade agreed to give full cooperation to the promotion of plans for recreational centers in New Castle, Joseph Frengel, president of the Board of Trade, said today.

In addition to the discussion of regular business topics, a committee was appointed to add names to the South Side honor roll, and, if necessary, to build an addition to the roll, and paint the present one. David M. Ritchie and Anthony Sacco are the members of this committee.

As guest of honor, Lt. Cecil F. Suber of the New Castle police department, gave a report on recreation plans for the city. Mr. Frengel appointed a committee made up of Harold Lebo, Oscar Levine, Anthony R. Noera, David M. Ritchie, and Anthony Sacco to have a joint meeting with the James Phillips Post, No. 726 of the American Legion for the completion of the plans suggested by Lieutenant Suber.

The next dinner meeting of the South Side Board of Trade will be held Thursday evening, August 3, at 7 o'clock in The Castleton.

Report Today Says

Herriott Is Dead

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—NBC reporter Paul Archibald, a dispatch from Bern, said today that former French Premier Edouard Herriott died in a clinic in Nancy.

The Nazi-controlled Vichy radio yesterday termed earlier German reports of Herriott's death as "erroneous."

NBC asked Archibald to check on the report and he replied: "Death of Edouard Herriott, 72, in a Nancy clinic, ends the career of the outstanding leader of the radical-Socialist party in France."

Cuba has established an agency to control the production, distribution, domestic consumption and exportation of all types of alcohol.

S. C. W. CLASS HAS BREAKFAST MEETING

Members of the S. C. W. Bible class of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, gathered in the social room of the church at 8:30 Thursday morning, for a breakfast meeting.

Invocation was given by Mrs. William Horcher. The committee of arrangements was Mrs. Gertrude Marshall, Mrs. L. M. Wilkison, Mrs. A. A. Maud, Mrs. R. L. Drumheller, Mrs. William H. Leicht, Mrs. John Fisher. Next social meeting of the class will be on August 10.

CRUSADERS CLASS PARTY AT HUNT HOME

Gathering at the Madison Avenue Christian church, on Thursday evening, a large group of the Crusaders Sunday school class, with Lynn Matlack, supply pastor, journeyed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunt, of the Harlansburg road, for an enjoyable social party.

There was a softball game between teams captained by Mr. Matlack and Mr. Hunt, with the latter team being the victors. All participated in a wiener roast, tapered off with an old-fashioned treat of home-made ice cream and cake.

The class will have their next social meeting at the home of Mrs. Mae Culbertson, of North Cedar street.

VARIETY CLUB MEETS THURSDAY EVENING

Mrs. Louise Domenick, of 115 West Wabash avenue, was hostess to the members of the Variety club, at her home, on Thursday evening. Special guests were Mrs. Marie Thomas of Clairton, and Mrs. Jennie Venditto.

Games and dancing were the diversions of the evening. Mrs. Anna Myers was awarded the door prize. The special guests also received prizes.

Plans were discussed for a picnic, the latter part of July at Idora Park, Youngstown.

Next regular meeting of the club will be entertained by Miss Rose Leone, of West Wabash avenue.

SHOPS TEAM SUPPER THURSDAY EVENING

In Columbus hall on Thursday evening a large number sat down to a spaghetti supper given by the Pennsylvania Car Shops baseball team. Frank Ruzzo and Joe Zumpella were in charge of arrangements.

Dancing was the diversion of the evening. Those who prepared the repast were: Mrs. Jane Piscitella, Mrs. Mary Ezzo, Mrs. Isabel Masters, Mrs. Josephine Santillo, Mrs. Mary Compagno, Mrs. Ernestina Pelosi. Serving at table were: Misses Connie Zumpella, Stella Masters, Esther Santillo, Jennie DeAngelis, Joan Tommelio.

RAILROAD WORKERS SUSTAIN INJURIES

Elio Picarro, of 205 S. Lafayette street, was admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital at 6:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon, for treatment of a severe laceration of the left forefinger. He is employed by the Pennsylvania railroad.

At 8 o'clock this morning, Joe Wilkowski, of 10 1/2 Elm street, also employed by the Pennsylvania railroad was treated for injuries of the second and third fingers of the left hand, received when his hand was caught by a jack.

NOW STATIONED IN FRANCE

Mrs. Mary Park, of 209 East Clayton street, has received word that her brother, Corp. Claude Thompson, who has been stationed for two years in England, has been transferred to France.

SACRED HEARTS SODALITY

Members of the Sacred Heart Sodality, of St. Lucy's church, met Thursday evening in the meeting rooms, president, Mrs. Angelina Garafalo in charge.

New members were welcomed. August 10, is the next meeting.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Miss Mary Gwin, of 412 Seventh street, is confined to her home, and is quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dittman, of West Clayton street, have moved to Mr. Jackson road.

Miss LaVida Sturgis, of North Liberty street, is confined to her home with illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilber have moved from North Liberty street to 110 East Clayton street.

Mrs. Mary Mastra, of 10 Montgomery avenue, has been returned to her home from the New Castle hospital.

Miss Anna June Gettings, of 4 East Cherry street, has left for Canton, Ohio, where she is the guest of Miss Ruth Murphy.

Mrs. Mamie Harris, of West Madison avenue, has returned to her home from the New Castle hospital where she received treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Barker, of Toledo, Ohio, have returned after concluding a visit at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Barker, of West Clayton street.

Nurses Aides Picnic Enjoyed

New Castle Hospital Nurses Aides Summer Outing At Harlansburg Spot

One of the most enjoyable of summer outings was held by the Red Cross nurses aides of the New Castle hospital Thursday evening, when they gathered for their picnic at the spacious home of Mrs. Joseph Force of the Harlansburg road.

The tasty meal, with all the picnic trimmings was served at 7 o'clock by the committee in charge. A varied outing program was held later by the girls, dancing being the main pastime. Records were played, and several of the aides enjoyed themselves by taking pictures.

Guests in attendance were the Red Cross committee: Mrs. Harry Barkby, chairman of Nurses Aides; Mrs. W. J. Kinnard, Mrs. W. Hinkson, Miss Elizabeth Breslin, Red Cross executive secretary; Mrs. Frank Mahoney, Mrs. Eva Nelson; Army nurses from Camp Reynolds; Major Stephen Masbach and Lieutenant Weaver, and the Red Cross hospital worker of Camp Reynolds, Miss Dryden, and Mrs. Tom Borovilos and Mrs. Marian Stevens.

Committeemen in charge and responsible for the success of the picnic include: Miss Margaret O'Connell, chairman; Rose Uhl, Jessica Jenkins and Mrs. Margaret Capezio.

Ready-to-serve meats are low point values because they are weighed and bought after cooking, so no shrinkage or bone has to be allowed for in planning how many servings they will yield.

Rain Fails To Dampen Spirits At YMCA Camp

Boys Enjoy Swimming In Rain And Indoor Activities When Rain Falls Along Slippery Rock

Twenty-three peppy boys failed to have their spirits dampened by the heavy rains that came down on Wednesday at Fred L. Rentz, Y. M. C. A. camp. Time was spent in the handicraft cabin and in the recreation hall with the boys making considerable progress in the work of making bill folds, belts, and serving trays. The swimming hole also was popular with the boys enjoying swimming in the rain.

Early evening was spent in singing many of the favorite campfire songs with the boys raising the roof of the recreation hall. Leading the boys in the singing were the counselors. Later in the evening the boys went into the large mess hall and participated in a spirited indoor track meet with every boy taking part in at least one race. After much fun the boys retired to their cabins and had their evening devotions and soon were sound asleep. Thursday found the campers getting back to the routine camp schedule of mushball and volleyball.

Fishing has also been a busy activity with the boys and although none of the boys have caught any of the fish they are still trying and no doubt will soon have some fine catches. Thursday evening the boys again were treated with movies.

ORAL POLLEN FOR HAY FEVER

It has long been recognized that symptoms of Hay Fever are caused by the inhalation of or contact with the Pollens of trees, grasses and weeds.

Oral Pollen is a tablet for administering orally in the treatment of Hay Fever.

The ease of administration makes it acceptable to all ages of patients, especially those who are adverse to hypodermic injections. For this reason, it should appeal to those treating sensitization in children. The margin of safety is wider in this form of administration.

Running Mate For Roosevelt Is Uncertain

Indications No Agreement
By Democrats As Yet On Wallace's Status

By WILLIAM THIES
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, July 14.—The political word on the scene of next week's Democratic national convention today was that agreement on a harmony running mate for President Roosevelt was still "up in the air" in Washington.

There were strong signs in Chicago that both the strategy of compromising the vice-presidential problem and framing the 1944 platform would be completed in the national capital.

One bit of evidence cited in support of the reported snarl over filling second place on the ticket was the delayed arrival at convention headquarters of Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan. Originally expected in Chicago yesterday, the young party leader remained in Washington during the continuing White House conferences on the vice-presidential question. He finally was scheduled to reach this convention city Saturday.

Await Roosevelt Move

In Chicago as in Washington, Democrats were waiting to see how far Mr. Roosevelt would go toward endorsing Vice President Henry A. Wallace for re-nomination. And at the Hotel Stevens, the gossip mart on both politics and convention mechanics, the most strongly-mentioned "counter-Wallace" candidates were Senate Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and Sen. Harry S. Truman of Missouri.

Pending Hannegan's arrival with or without President Roosevelt's ticket recommendation, members of the resolutions subcommittee which officially has the assignment of preparing a platform, planned to begin preliminary sessions today. Rep. John W. McCormack, Massachusetts, house majority leader and chairman of the subcommittee, was to check in and immediately start work before opening formal hearings Monday.

Some Developments

Democrats who are inclined to write off Vice President Wallace's chances of winning re-nomination because of intense southern opposition to him took note, however, of these developments:

1.—The joint announcement by CIO President Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, that they will fight for Wallace's re-nomination.

2.—The statement in Chicago by Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, convention keynote, that the delegates would give "more consideration" to a pro-Wallace endorsement by Mr. Roosevelt than to the words of anyone else.

Kerr, one of the few "young" potential vice-presidential nominees, said emphatically he is not a candidate for Wallace's spot. But he ducked a direct response on the question of whether he would accept such nomination.

Barkley's experience and leadership in the senate, where he broke with President Roosevelt over the now-famous tax bill veto, is regarded as a powerful asset regardless of his 67 years.

Grove City Prepares For Blood Bank Visit

GROVE CITY, July 14.—Many civic organizations are co-operating with the Donors club in preparing for a visit here August 7-8-9-10 of the Red Cross Mobile Unit for blood donors. The goal is 1200 persons and D. A. Shelley, Donors club chairman, says a good start has been made on the quota.

Censusing the 2800 employees of the Cooper-Bessemer plant will take place July 20-21, under direction of Ben Capron and John Blair. Nearby townships are being organized by Mrs. S. L. Coleman.

Because the percentage of rejections may be high under the new regulations, Chairman Shelley hopes to exceed substantially the 1200 goal, to assure donation of 1,000 pints of blood during the four-day stay of the unit. The basement of the First Presbyterian church will be used as headquarters.

Lt. Bollard Tells Of Saipan Attack

Local Lieutenant In Thick Of Tank
Attack On Island; Describes Capture Of Ridge

SAIPAN, MARIANA ISLANDS—(Delayed)—By a Marine Corps combat correspondent.—The driving back of the Japs on Saipan was described today by First Lieut. Edward R. Bollard, 518 Garfield avenue, New Castle, Pa.

"We landed right behind the assault troops," First Lieutenant Bollard said, "and drove a mile inland. None of us knew what to expect, although we had been told the Japs had tanks on the island."

"It didn't take us long to find out what they had, though. As we came up a small ridge about a mile from the beach, there were seven tanks in my group—we were met by point-blank fire from Japanese guns only 50 feet away. One of our tanks was demolished, but the rest of us got out. We came back next day and took the ridge."

On another occasion Lieutenant Bollard's platoon of tanks drove off three Jap counter-attacks. "Most of the time, however," he explained, "we were on call to the infantry. Our main job is blasting out fixed positions — pillboxes, caves, and buildings that were being used to hold up our advance. We led infantry advances through cane fields and into towns and we even evacuated wounded from the field of battle."

"At one time we used the escape hatch in the bottom of the tank to pick up wounded under the fire of enemy guns."

Lieutenant Bollard graduated from New Castle high school in

Woman Saves Her Salary Anyhow

PITTSBURGH, July 14.—(INS)—A "tall fellow, well dressed" gripped a Squirrel Hill woman by the hair the other night and struck her twice with his other hand in a vain attempt to steal her purse, police reported.

His victim, Mrs. Gladys Grubb, a woman masseuse, reported, "I had my week's salary in my purse and I was holding it under my arm. I held on to it even though he hit me so hard my jaw still aches."

It seems as if the would-be-thief picked the wrong victim that time.

Wallace May Make Battle

Report Vice President May Make Fight "Against Party Bosses"

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
 N.Y. Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON, July 14.—Vice-president Henry A. Wallace was represented by friends today as being ready to make a last-ditch fight against party "bosses" for his political life at the Chicago Democratic convention.

Expecting a friendly statement by President Roosevelt and assured of whole-hearted backing of powerful CIO leaders, Wallace was said to be confident he can whip the opposition in a free-for-all fight next week.

He would, however, friends said, abandon the race on request from the White House.

Both Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, and President Philip Murray of the CIO, declared they unalterably favor Wallace.

President Roosevelt's delay in declaring that he favors Wallace admittedly embarrassed the vice-president's friends in their fight. But they appeared certain that the president will deliver a friendly gesture. They also claimed that the vice-president would enter the convention with the largest pledged vote of any vice-presidential candidate.

It appeared to be too late for even Mr. Roosevelt to avoid a bitter convention battle over the vice-presidency.

Many powerful party leaders, including Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, were fighting Wallace's renomination. They were supported by many anti-New Deal southern delegations, who have bowed to Mr. Roosevelt's renomination but refuse to accept Wallace.

Sen. Albert Barkley, Kentucky Democratic senate chief, continued to be the favorite among party leaders for the post.

Germans Repelled In Counter Attack

Make Slight Gain And Then Are Forced Back By American Forces

By CLARK LEE
 (N.Y. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE NORMANDY FRONT, July 14.—(11 A. M.)—(INS)—German forces, employing tanks, made a determined counter-attack up the Periers-Carentan road during the night.

The enemy succeeded in penetrating Yank lines a short distance but then were repelled. The Americans lost no ground.

In the St. Lo sector, the Americans continued to push southward along both banks of the Vire river and both sides of the St. Lo-Pont Hebert highway, taking additional high ground and mopping up strong Nazi pockets.

East of St. Lo the Yanks withdrew a couple of hundred yards during the night to consolidate. On the western portion of the Cherbourg peninsula the Americans pushed forward all along the line against temporarily stiffened resistance.

Government Cars Must Not Speed

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(INS)—The army believes in speedy advances on the field, but on domestic highways, the GI limit is strictly 35 miles per hour.

This was emphasized today in a letter received by Frank J. Loftus, district OPA director, from Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, commander of the third service command, stating that cars carrying servicemen will be stopped by military police if they are exceeding the speed limit.

The servicemen involved are liable to punitive action. Civilians driving the automobiles will be reported to the OPA.

DESTRUCTION IN CAPTURED CAEN

Allied aerial night and artillery bursts caused much destruction in Caen, France, before the Nazis finally were routed and the Allies captured the important city, hub on the road to Paris. Brig. Gen. Roosevelt First General To Land On Beach

Death Reveals Part He Played On D-Day; Career One Of Much Bravery

By HENRY T. GORRELL
 Representing the Combined U. S. Press (Distributed by I. N. S.)

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN NORMANDY, July 14.—It may now be revealed that Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., son of the late former president, was in one of the first waves to hit the beaches of Cherbourg peninsula on D-day and was the first general to land.

Although 58, "Teddy" insisted he be given the privilege of leading doughboys into battle. He emerged with only a slight scratch on his left thumb.

With him was his aide, Lieut. Stevie Stevenson, son of the governor of Texas. Roosevelt, veteran of famous battles of World War I and carrying many decorations, including three purple hearts since Pearl Harbor, inspired the troops as he waded ashore under an intense German artillery barrage.

He personally directed preliminary stages of the battle, keeping doughboys on the move to gain as much territory as possible in the initial seaborne assault. He carried a 45 strapped to his shoulder and negotiated the tricky dunes with the help of a small, bamboo cane.

He was dressed in coveralls and leggings and wore a steel helmet with one star.

The traditional Roosevelt luck helped him through when men on all sides were falling dead or seriously wounded from enemy mortar and artillery fire or from mines and booby traps in the defense area.

Teddy was in fine physical shape, slim as a boy of 21 and his wisecracks were cheering to the troops. I found him shortly after hitting the beach. He was sitting by the side of the road directing engineers who were about to blow up an ammunition dump which had caught fire, with red hot bullets and grenades exploding. He scarcely scrunched his head when engineers signalled "she's about to go."

With his grizzled hair and wind and sun-tanned face, he seemed a man of iron as he sat there with German corpses to keep him company on the roadside. He drove his own jeep, on which was printed "Rough Rider" in honor of his father's famous Spanish-American War cavalry detachment.

Arrested by the FBI yesterday, Powell was formally charged with bribing John Wilson, chief clerk of his New York draft board, to secure deferments. Wilson committed suicide shortly after Powell's file was found, out of its place, in a remote office of the building.

The FBI said Powell told them he had been a friend of Wilson's but denied ever bribing him.

Windsors In Miami; To Head North Soon

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., July 14.—(INS)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor reached briefly in Miami today before heading north.

They arrived by boat from the Bahamas yesterday and the Duke announced they would travel to New York Saturday. He plans several trips to Washington "on business concerning the Bahamas," the Duke said.

Infant Abductor Sought By Police

New York Police Institute Rigid Search For Kidnapper Of Barbara Goggin

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—The biggest search undertaken by New York police since the famed Lindbergh baby kidnapping 12 years ago was under way today for the abductor of six-months-old Barbara Anne Goggin, who was abducted from her crib in a foundling home.

While the search spread rapidly, some detectives believed, that the baby might have been taken by mistake for another, she disappeared between 2:10 and 5:15 a.m. yesterday from the New York Foundling hospital.

Authorities said the case is unprecedented in the 75-year history of the hospital. Baby Goggin was not a foundling but had been kept there while her working mother was preparing to undergo an operation. News of the kidnapping was kept from her before she went into the surgery. "She'd have jumped out of the window, had she known," said the distracted father, Walter Goggin.

May Be Error
 On the theory that the baby might have been taken by error, detectives questioned Samuel P. Forrest, Staten Island shipyard worker, who has a 17-months-old blonde and blue-eyed daughter who has a marked resemblance to the Goggin infant. Forrest, however, denied stoutly that he knew anything about the missing child.

Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Scotti, who described the case as an abduction, said the police have definite leads but would not discuss details in deference to the baby's safety.

The police description of Barbara Anne says she has blonde hair and blue eyes, is six months and 19 days old, has a fair complexion and is 27 inches tall, weighs 16 pounds. When taken, she wore only a diaper.

Aviators who gain altitude too rapidly get the "bends" the same as a deep sea diver who is brought to the surface too rapidly.

Lawrence County Farm And Home News

By Extension Representatives, LEWIS C. DAYTON, Agriculture;
MISS JOSEPHINE SIMPSON, Home EconomicsMID-SUMMER SEEDING ADDS
VEGETABLES IN GARDEN

Numerous crops can be sown in mid-summer to keep the garden in production as well as insure a crop of fall greens. Because of the usual hot, dry weather, mid-summer plantings require a special procedure to insure sprouting.

Turnips, rutabagas, kale, spinach, fall radish, cabbage, Chinese cabbage, endive, and lettuce are some of the vegetables which can be planted now.

For best results, mid-summer plantings should be a little deeper than spring plantings. Thorough watering of the furrow before sowing the seed is important. Addition of some mulching material in the covering of the seed will help hold the moisture and give the seeds a chance to sprout. More water may be needed as the plants appear, although occasional thorough watering is more satisfactory than frequent light watering.

When the plants are still small, the poorer ones should be pulled out. Thinning down to the right spacing makes the best plants, and thinning conserves moisture, an important item in mid-summer plantings.

PROPER CONSTRUCTION OF BARN PROVES ITS VALUE

That proper construction of barns and other farm buildings pays was proved recently, again, when the heavy windstorm swept southwestern Pennsylvania. While some folks feel any building in the direct path of severe winds would have collapsed there are numerous cases which show damage was lessened where proper construction had been used in erecting the buildings.

One of the principal items often neglected has been the bolting of sills to foundations. Another was providing ties between roof framing and sidewalls. End bracing (or stays) for large barns is particularly desired and those who applied rough sheathing diagonally on the studs have been well repaid for the extra labor involved.

During the present scarcity of lumber, plans for the plank frame (brace-rafter type) barn are particularly important in that it requires only two-thirds the lumber used for the timber frame barn long used in this state. The plank frame barn was found to withstand intense winds better than old mortise and tenon with heavy timbers.

The Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle, has plans for many types of farm buildings. Farmers who intend to build or repair are welcome to examine the plans and secure copies if they desire.

USE BORDEAUX SPRAY TO PRE-VENT LATE POTATO BLIGHT

Late blight has been found in potato fields in some sections of Pennsylvania. Although hot dry weather is not favorable for the spread of blight, arrival of any damp, moist weather conditions will help it to cause damage.

A good coverage of every potato plant with Bordeaux mixture is the best control of blight. For small areas in gardens, a dust of 20 per cent monohydrated copper sulphate and 80 per cent hydrated lime applied to top and bottom surfaces of the leaves is suggested.

WASH GREENS CAREFULLY BEFORE
CANNING THEM

Can leafy green vegetables now while they are plentiful for next winter's meals, is the suggestion of Miss Simpson.

There can be variety in the canned greens because in many gardens there are beet greens, turnip greens, Swiss chard, rhubarb chard and spinach. "One hour from garden to can" will mean a better finished product, so don't let greens wilt before canning them.

Gather only what greens can be handled easily at one time, not more than enough for six to eight jars. Wash the greens thoroughly in plenty of water, lifting them from the water instead of pouring it off. Sand in the canned spinach is an indication that it wasn't washed clean. Greens will wash easier if warm water is used for the first washing.

Steam or cook the greens in an uncovered kettle until they are completely wilted. Precooked greens may be put into the jars more easily, more can be put into jars, and precooking shortens the processing time. Have jars clean and hot, then fill jars one-quarter full of the wilted greens, cut with a scissors or sharp knife, then cover with water in which the leaves were wilted. Add more greens to the half-way mark, cut and again cover with water, then fill jars three-fourths full, again cut greens and cover with water, then fill the jars to within one inch of the top, cut greens and cover with water. Add a half teaspoon of salt for each pint jar.

Run a silver or stainless steel knife around the inside of the jar to release any air, for foods are likely to spoil when air is present. Cutting the greens at each filling interval also helps air to escape and liquid to penetrate the mass.

Wipe the edges of jars with a clean cloth, adjust covers and seal according to type of lid used. Process pint jars 60 minutes in the pressure cooker or 160 minutes in the boiling water bath. At the end of the processing time, complete the seals where necessary, stand jars upright to cool, and when cold store in a cool, dark, dry place.

Further details for canning greens and other foods are given in Extension Circular 238. You may obtain a copy by contacting the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

Part New Castle Women Are Playing In War Effort Shown In
B. & O. Magazine

The part New Castle women are playing in the war effort, particularly in the field of railroad, is made the topic of a two-page feature picture article in the current issue of the B. & O. magazine, recently off the press.

Work around a railroad shop is not the cleanest kind of work, as plenty of oil and grease is needed to keep the iron monsters in good running order and most of the work the women are doing is on jobs of this nature. One of the jobs now done by a woman is that of operating the turntable, which turns around the biggest engines.

German Prisoners Are Cutting Wood

Segregate Nazi And Anti-Nazi
Prisoners Of War In Woods
Of Maine

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(INS)—Senate Truman committee members reported today that separate "Nazi" and "anti-Nazi" camps of German prisoners are maintained in the forests of Maine where the captives are cutting wood as a part of the effort to relieve the critical pulp wood situation.

"The Nazi and anti-Nazi camps are about evenly divided in number," said Sen. Harold H. Burton (R-Ohio), member of an investigating subcommittee which visited the Maine camps.

The anti-Nazi camps included primarily Austrians and others forced into the war. Probably there were no Prussians among them.

German soldiers in the Nazi camps still use the Nazi salute, Burton said. They are entitled to do this as war prisoners.

The senator said there was no evidence of pampering of German prisoners. They are given adequate rations, and their only complaint is that they prefer a greater proportion of meat and potatoes.

Greater use of German prisoners in the forest was seen by Burton as offering hope of relieving the critical paper shortage. The German prisoners, he said, were reported to have cooperated in cutting of wood in Maine and the experiment of using them in isolated forests is regarded as successful.

American Fleet Still On Prowl

Believe U. S. Fleet In Marianas
Trying To Lure Japs Out
For Fight

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—A "powerful" American fleet was reported by the Tokyo radio today to be "still wandering around" in the waters of the Marianas.

The broadcast, reported by the FCC, said that American carrier-based planes are daily raiding "our islands in the South Sea."

According to Tokyo, 60 carrier-based planes raided the island of Guam yesterday and "two or three enemy warships also shelled the island."

Last night the Japanese Domei agency said that an American battleship had twice bombarded Japanese positions on Guam yesterday cooperating with a large formation of planes that attacked the island at the same time.

Mass Sedition List Reduced

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(INS)—Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher today eliminated another defendant from the mass sedition trial roster by ordering severance of the case of 66-year-old James True.

The order reduces the defendant roll to 26 from the original 30—which had first been cut to 29 by the death of Elmer Garner of Wichita, Kan.

True is ill at his Arlington, Va. home. His lawyer, J. Austin Latimer, resisted the severance motion of Prosecutor O. John Rogge and asked that the trial be suspended until True could return to court.

True was publisher of bulletins known as "Industrial Control Reports." He is the third whose case has been severed from those of his fellow defendants.

PENNSY BRAKEMAN KILLED

WARREN, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—Herbert William Gertsch, 43, of Sheffield, a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, died today from a fractured skull he sustained when he leaned out of a train window and was struck on the head by a car on an adjoining track. It was his first trip on a passenger train run.

Woman Is Held On Kidnapping Charge

Woman Says She Was Intoxicated
And Can't Recall Why She Walked Off With Baby

COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—(INS)—A 21-year-old Columbus woman was held in city prison today on a charge of kidnapping a seven-month-old boy in a Detroit beer parlor Wednesday night and bringing him to Columbus yesterday morning.

The woman, Mrs. Alice Brawdy, who said her husband was in the army, was arrested with the baby in a Columbus hotel yesterday.

The child, Michael Alessi, was taken to the county juvenile detention home. Police said he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alessi. His father is a Detroit war worker.

Detective Chief Leo Phillips said Mrs. Brawdy told him she was willing to return to Detroit, where, Phillips said, an affidavit charging kidnapping had been filed.

Asked by Columbus police why she had taken the child, the short, stocky woman only said: "I don't know."

She told Phillips that she was sitting in a Detroit beer parlor when a man came in with three children—one of them the baby. Phillips quoted Mrs. Brawdy as saying: "The baby started crying and I walked over to the man and said I would quiet him."

She admitted taking the boy and walking out of the cafe with him. "I was pretty well under the weather. I was going to take him back after I sobered up," she told Phillips.

Report Allies Trying To Get Turkey Into War

LONDON, July 14.—(INS)—Nazi propagandists asserted today that a new Anglo-American-Soviet campaign to bring Turkey into the war on the Allied side now is underway.

Foreign office spokesmen in Berlin according to DNEB, said that the increasing number of newspaper comments on Turkey combined with American Secretary of State Cordell Hull's recent statement that Ankara "seemed to examine the problem of establishing closer relations with the Allies" pointed up the drive.

As usual, the agency attempted to sow disunity by asserting London and Washington were co-operating closely but it appeared that Moscow might be playing a lone hand in the campaign.

The United States allegedly was especially active since President Roosevelt "needed diplomatic and political successes for his election campaign" inasmuch as there has been "a lack of decisive military successes on the invasion front."

Sentence Woman For Second Degree Murder Of Husband

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—Mrs. Helen Wucherer, blonde Erdenheim matron, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the Pennsylvania women's industrial school at Muncy today for the second degree murder of her husband.

Mrs. Wucherer was convicted last March of fatally shooting her male, August, 51-year-old real estate salesman, at their home on Oct. 31, 1943. She testified at her trial that her mind "went blank" when her husband refused to stop seeing another woman.

Mrs. Wucherer sobbed fitfully as Judge George C. Corson passed sentence in Montgomery county court. Defense Counsel William A. Gray of Philadelphia said no further appeal will be made at this time.

Chinese Relief Is Hard On Jaw

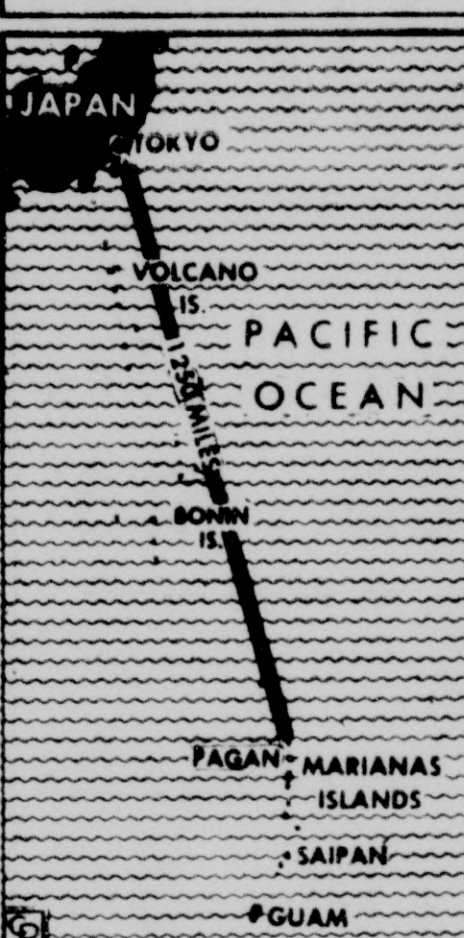

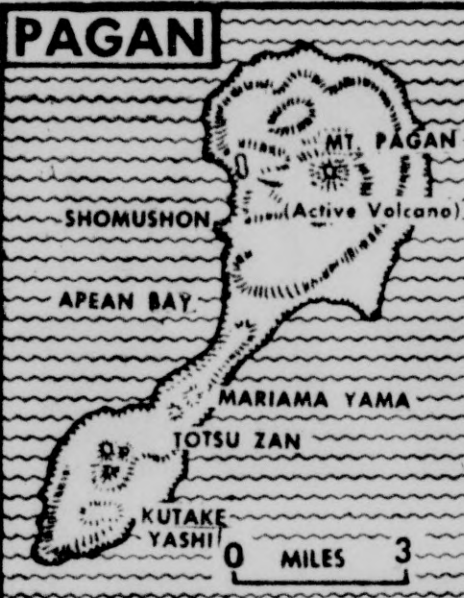

MONTCLAIR, N. J., July 14.—(INS)—Arthur Davis, seven, nursed a bruised jaw today, but proudly displayed a letter from President James L. McComaughy of United Chinese Relief, thanking him for a $1.25 contribution.

Arthur's mother had been attending a series of lectures on China and passing her information on to the boy. He seemed interested, but she was hardly prepared to find her front lawn decorated with crudely drawn signs announcing a fight at 3 p. m. between "Bone-crusher Davis" and "Killer Ames"—admission five cents, proceeds for United Chinese Relief.

Mrs. Davis got home too late for the fight. She found Arthur repairing his jaw, damaged by a knockout left from the "Killer" in the third round.

"Well, he's six months older than me," Arthur commented. "Anyway, we made a dollar and a quarter for the Chinese kids."

Mention of the fact that the aircraft were shore-based indicates that the planes took off from airfields on Saipan, which is within easy fighter range of Pagan. The relationship of the bombed island to Tokyo and its distance from the Japanese capital are shown on the lower map. (International)

Treasured Russian Shrine Is Retaken; Was Desecrated

MOSCOW, July 14.—(INS)—One of Russia's most treasured national shrines, the burial site of the poet Alexander Pushkin, once again is in Soviet hands today, although scorred by the ravages of the German invader.

Troops of the second Baltic front took the shrine when they occupied Pushkinskie Gori or "Pushkin Hills". They form what once comprised the estate of the writer and there, within the walls of the ancient Slavogorsky monastery, built in the time of Ivan the Terrible, rests the poet's body.

The Germans, cognizant of the site's significance, desecrated it. The monastery was partly destroyed, the museum with Pushkin's relics stripped of valuables and a Nazi officer buried near the poet's grave.

Truant Officer Has 2,368 Cases In Year

School Attendance Officer Is Kept Busy, But Few Of Cases
Are Serious

Staying out of school still seems to be a popular racket, judging from the statistics turned in for the 1943-44 school term, by R. L. Stewart, attendance officer, of the New Castle schools.

Altogether, 2,368 cases were reported to Mr. Stewart, and all were investigated. Most of the students returned without any trouble, but 155 notices had to be served to parents or guardians.

Almost a third of these notices weren't exactly effective either, for 49 arrests of parents or guardians had to be made, 42 of which resulted in convictions.

Fines for the year amounted to the sum of $90. But out of the whole group only one pupil was sentenced as incorrigible.

London Mothers And Children Return To City

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—Many London mothers and children have returned home to the British capital, unable to find living quarters where they could stay away from the robot bombs, a CBS correspondent reported today.

"All say they'd rather face the flying bombs than go through the trouble of finding places to live outside London," he declared.

Ensign Nolte Is Killed In Action

Former New Castle Resident Believed Casualty In Attacks On Saipan

Word was received today by Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Nolte of 707 Cumberland avenue, of the death of their grandson, William Nolte, 24 Ensign in the U. S. Naval Aviation Corps. It is believed that Ensign Nolte met his death during the recent invasion of Saipan Island in the South Pacific.

Ensign Nolte was born in New Castle December 6, 1920, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Nolte, now residing in Detroit, Michigan. He graduated from New Castle high school in the class of 1938.

After moving to Detroit with his family he worked for a time at the Ford Motor company and attended Lawrence Institute of Technology. Enlisting when the war broke out Ensign Nolte was first sent to Kansas, and finished his training in Florida, where he got his wings. In March of this year he shipped aboard the Aircraft Carrier Hornet and sailed for the South Pacific.

Besides his parents Ensign Nolte is survived by one sister Betty Lou

The fund is a tribute to Dr. James Ewing, an authority on cancer and professor at Cornell Medical college, Memorial hospital, with which Cornell Medical school is affiliated, has received congratulatory messages from President Roosevelt and Governor Dewey on its contribution to cancer treatment and research throughout the world.

ALBANY, July 14.—(INS.)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today described Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, who died in Normandy, as a "great patriot who gave his life for his country."

"The death of Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt is sad news indeed," the governor said.

"Never was there a warmer friend, a stouter heart, or a more public-spirited American. He was my good friend and close associate in many public causes. I know his family will be comforted in their grief in the sure knowledge that everyone who knew him loved and respected him as a great patriot who gave his life for his country."

Saturday Will Be St. Swithin's Day

PITTSBURGH, July 14.—(INS.)—The United States weather bureau—which frowns mightily upon all such folklore—today informed "true believers" in the 1,000-year-old St. Swithin's Day legend that tomorrow will be fair.

"If it be fair," the legend says, "for 40 days 'twill rain nae mair'."

Of course, the legend also predicts 40 days of rain following a rainy July 15.

Committee Studies Institutions Merger

HARRISBURG, July 14.—(INS.)

Gov. Edward Martin said today that a committee studying Pennsylvania's 20 mental and criminal insane hospitals had submitted a preliminary report recommending consolidation of several institutions.

"We'll divide the state into districts and allocate hospitals to the districts," he explained. "Some of the institutions will be consolidated. We will take into consideration the convenience of friends of the patients and economy."

Some hospitals, the governor explained, would be expanded to handle an increased number of mental cases as a result of the war.

"We hope they won't come but if they do we'll be ready for them," he declared.

Governor Martin named a five-member committee April 13 to survey the state's hospitals and to make recommendations for remedial legislation to the general assembly in 1945.

LOYAL MOOSE WIN; DEADLOCK SERIES

Sugent Invincible, Rainey Pounded From Mound In Sixth Inning

PLAY DECIDING GAME ON SUNDAY

Loyal Order of Moose defeated the Johnsons 9 to 5, at Lee avenue yesterday deadlocking the series for the championship of the first half of the City Baseball League. The third and deciding game will be played at 2:45 Sunday afternoon at E. & A. field.

Sugent was invincible after the second inning, holding the first game winner to half a dozen hits and fanned 10 while the Moose got even with Rainey, their nemesis of the first half and erased him in the sixth. Young took over the floundering duty for the Moose.

The Moose got away to a five-run lead in the first half of the first but at the end of the second frame the Johnsons broke the tie. The score 3 to 5. However, in the next three frames the Moose amassed four more runs, boosting the score to 9 to 5.

Neither team was able to score after the fifth frame.

Kozella featured for the Moose with a triple with the bases choked while Coulter, Marshall and Kozella each collected a pair of hits. Coulter and Marshall each batted their pair with a double.

Plutal and Dunt brought the fans to their feet with sensational catches. Marshall and Friedoff played bony baseball throughout and the game was one of the most exciting of the 44 season.

Penn Football Outlook Is Dim

Penn University Hopes For Wealth Of Navy Mater- ial To Help Grid Team

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—Prospects were dim today that coach George Munger will be able to send a University of Pennsylvania football team on the field this fall that can match last year's mighty Quaker juggernaut.

The red and blue mentor has hopes that the incoming class will add some civilian or Navy V-12 talent to his list of 36 players, which includes only four lettermen. Backfield material is especially lacking.

Just Four Regulars
The holdovers Munger is leaning on to start against Duke in September—the first grid clash of the two schools in their history—are Guards Wal Stuckel and Ray Stengel; Ted Tussing, blocking back; and fullback Johnny Small. Penn's 16-year-old who starred in several games last year.

Munger has next to nothing to work with in the way of backs aside from Small and Tussing. The fledglings who took part in spring drills have had to more than limited high school experience, and in many cases, none at all.

Added to Munger's worries is the fact that incoming Navy trainees will not be eligible to play until after November 1.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

M. J. (Mike) Kelley, the grand old man of the minors, will be significantly honored at Minneapolis on the night of July 15 when friends stage a celebration marking his 50 years in baseball.

Kelley, now owner of the Minneapolis club of the American Association, formerly managed the St. Paul Saints and fans of both cities are joining in the observance.

Kelley broke in as a player with Augusta, Me., of the old New England league 50 years ago. During his long career he was a team-mate of such famous diamond figures as Hans Wagner, Rube Waddell, Fred Clarke, Tommy Leach and countless others.

With the exception of two years, when he managed in the Western and International leagues, he has been connected with the American Association since its founding in 1902.

One of the veteran's favorite stories is very appropriate as he marks his golden anniversary in the game.

It seems his father did not want young Michael to enter the profession of baseball, but the kid was determined and his father finally bestowed his blessings, but with one admonition.

"Very well, Mike," he said, "if it's a ball player you want to be, go ahead, but I was hoping you'd get into something more permanent."

"Looks like I made a pretty steady job of it," says the genial veteran, one of the most beloved characters in the game today.

Albany of the Eastern League must have some sort of a charm it exerts over untold youngsters who join the club from sunny California.

It may be the California Chamber of Commerce will claim it's just because the state raises that kind of players.

At any rate, jumping from the lots to a class A league without any professional experience is quite a feat in this day of player shortage. But it doesn't seem to affect Albany's California importations.

A couple of years ago it was Outfielder Ralph Kiner who came from the Golden Bear state to make good.

Now it's Shortstop Vernon Lewis who has won the job at Albany without previous experience. The 19-year-old kid was picked up at Thurston and is a protégé of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He got some great experience on the coast last winter by playing with Vince DiMaggio's all-stars. The second baseman working alongside him gave him considerable help. It was Bob Doerr of the Boston Red Sox.

Wife Takes Up Pro Golf Duties

Wife Of Former Erie Pro Takes Over When Hubby Goes To Fight War

ERIE, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—Herbert Vogt, "pro" at the Erie golf course since 1935, is in the army now but the sten over the pro headquarters at the course still reads "H. Vogt."

It's Vogt's wife, Helen, who stepped into the job without any difficulty after her husband left for the service last spring. Although she doesn't consider her golfing good enough to give instruction to others, she handles all the other duties of the job.

Learned From Husband
Miss Vogt's preparation for the job consisted mainly of having been a good wife and listening dutifully when her husband used to talk golf around the house. In that way she became pretty familiar with the sort of things which used to delight her husband or cause him indignation.

Whenever she runs into a new problem, she merely refers to her "correspondence school" lessons contributed regularly by Vogt from his army post in Augusta, Ga.

"Assistant pro" at the course is Vogt's five-year-old daughter who accompanies her mother to work each day.

Atlantic City Is Sport Haven For U. S. Airmen

Pilots Home From War Get Plenty Of Chance To Play And Enjoy Sports

OUTDOOR SPORTS NOW ON SCHEDULE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 14.—Sports-hungry young Americans who spent the past year or more overseas battling Nazis and Japs in skies all over the world and who are back here to get new Air Force assignments, are finding AAF Redistribution Station No. 1 a veritable sports paradise.

While abroad the young pilots bombardiers, navigators and gunners found it difficult to indulge their craving for typically American sports.

Some Even Played Cricket
In between missions they played softball on crude diamonds in Africa, or England, erected volleyball nets and courts in India, China and Italy, and even tried their hand occasionally at cricket, although not a single returnee of the thousands to have passed through this station since it opened last October has yet been found who'd admit he understood the intricacies of that game.

But a real game of basketball, a slam-bang session of baseball, golf on an honest-to-goodness course or one of the other games they enjoyed back home were luxuries they only dreamed about.

Here in Atlantic City, as they relax for two weeks as the AAF's best doctors look them over and personnel experts fit them back into the Air Forces scheme, that dream comes true.

Big Variety Of Sports
Here at AAFRS No. 1, enlisted men and officers can try their hands at any one of 22 different sports, ranging from deep-sea fishing, baseball, golf, horseback riding and trap and skeet shooting to basketball, handball, archery, badminton, horse-shoe pitching and volleyball.

Now that summer weather is at hand, outdoor sports naturally are favored. Fishing enthusiasts can go after tuna and other deep-sea fish on a 65-foot boat. The "Return" leaves every morning and stays out all day. There are also three 24-footers for inland fishing on the nearby bays, as well as a score of rowboats for bay fishing.

Trap and skeet shooting at the Atlantic City gun club are very popular. Scores run up by the enlisted men who downed Messerschmitts and Zeros in aerial battle would make even the most expert of amateur gunmen blink their eyes.

Use Yank Ball Park
Tennis can be played at the nearby Vantage courts, and the golf course of the Northfield, Linwood and Seaview clubs have all been thrown open to the returnees.

Bader Field, where the Yankees trained is used for baseball; the beach is the scene of much of the horseback riding. Bicycling is tremendously popular, with more than 200 bikes available.

When the weather is inclement and all last winter when it was too cold to go outdoors—the varied facilities of Convention Hall were used. Here the Redistribution Station has set up three full-sized basketball courts, two volleyball courts, seven badminton courts, archery ranges, boxing ring, punching bags, ping pong tables, indoor golf driving net and three handball courts.

An exceptionally well-rounded staff of sports experts is in charge of the athletic program. Top man is First Lieut. Albert Bieffus, of Syracuse, N. Y., former University of Illinois wrestler.

In charge of baseball, and catcher and one of the leading hitters on the station ball team, is Serg. Fred Hays, of Fayetteville, Ark., who caught for 15 years with the New Orleans and Nashville clubs and was a coach and minor league manager in the St. Louis Cardinal system for 10 years.

Serg. Adrian Hall, of McDowell, Ky., was a star basketball player at Moonraker State Teacher College, and Staff Sgt. Louis Stipo, of White Plains, N. Y., was a Golden Glove boxer and a member of the 1932 Olympic boxing team.

National League Makes New Rule

Balls Hit Through Screen Into Stands Will Be Good For But Two Bases

PITTSBURGH, July 14.—(INS)—National league club owners today were agreed on a compromise rule on fair balls driven through screens and into the stands.

The new rule, agreed upon at a meeting in Pittsburgh last Monday but not announced until today, calls for such hits in all National league parks to be limited to two bases, instead of a home run as in the case of Spud Davis' hits against the St. Louis Cardinals at Forbes field recently.

Pittsburgh Pirates officials today announced the Buccaneers will meet the Cardinals in an extra night game in St. Louis Saturday, August 6. The added owl fry means the Bucs will play the Red Birds Friday and Saturday nights, with a double-header on Sunday.

Weaver Re-Enters Comiskey Park

First Visit Since He Was Banned Following White Sox Scandal In 1919

COACHES CHICAGO HIGH ALL-STAR TEAM

By JERRY HEALEY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, July 14.—When Buck Weaver walks into Comiskey Park today to coach the Chicago high school all-stars in a baseball game against a picked scholastic nine from three states, the bones of many a skeleton will rattle.

It will mark the first time Weaver has been on the baseball diamond since 1919 when the star third baseman and several of his teammates were banished from baseball in the notorious Black Sox scandal.

Things were mighty black for Weaver then. He hadn't reached the peak of his professional career, but he was through with the game for all time. He had been charged with conspiracy to throw the world series to the Cincinnati Reds.

The conspiracy was successful from the gambler's standpoint, but the Chicago White Sox park since 1919 when the star third baseman and several of his teammates were banished from baseball in the notorious Black Sox scandal.

Weaver—he was christened George—hasn't been in the public eye much since those hectic days when he and Claude Williams, and Joe Jackson were indicted on the conspiracy charges. He brushes off questions about what he is doing now with: "I'm getting along all right. I'm so busy I can't find time to take care of all my affairs."

Denied Knowledge Of Deal
Weaver always denied any part in the world series conspiracy. He said after his suspension that he never received any of the money said to have been distributed and denied all knowledge of the deal to throw games.

He pointed out then his record in that series, in which he batted .333 and made only four errors out of 30 chances.

"Any man who bats .333 is bound to make trouble for the other team in a ball game," he said.

Naturally, Buck doesn't like to be reminded of the series. Right now he's concentrating, as head coach, on leading his Chicago kids to victory over a picked high school team from schools in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Dean Park Loses To Cozy Corners

North Hill Team Wins First Half Championship In American Legion Junior League

Cozy Corners won the first half title in the American Legion Junior League, in a playoff game at George Washington Field Thursday evening, winning by a score of 5-0. Cozy Corners won the toss and were the home team.

With Bill Andrews in top form, the Dean Park Dodgers, who have been recently strengthened by the return from school of H. Liebenendorfer were held to two scattered hits, the victory for Cozy Corners being decisive although errors helped in much of the scoring. R. Liebenendorfer held the Cozy Corners to seven hits.

Cozy Corners did all their scoring in the first three innings, pushing over one in the first when Baxter singled, was sacrificed to second by Davis, and went to third on an infield out, scoring when Zeigler's fly to the outfield was misjudged.

Two more were added in the second, when Andrews and Rhodes singled and Jackson walked, filling the bases. Davis' hard drive was muffed, and two runs scored. Two more were added in the third, J. Zeigler got on on an error and scored on Shriver's double, and went to third when the ball was fumbled in the outfield. Andrews singled to score Shriver and add the fifth run.

In addition to hurling a fine game, Andrews came through with two hits, while Baxter also had two. B. Zeigler made two fine catches in left field on what looked like sure hits.

In other games, the Wolverines defeated the North Hill Cardinals, 8-2. The Wolverines scoring seven runs in a big fourth inning spurge. Tanner on the mound for Wolverines, fanned 10 batters and was scored in the niches. Badurik had a homer and Jopek triple and single for the Wolverines, while Leughenslager had a triple for the Cardinals.

Score by innings:

Phillies Buy New Shortstop

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(INS)—The Philadelphia Phillies tackle the New York Giants tonight with a new shortstop—William Heindel, from the Indianapolis club of the American Association.

The five-foot nine inch right-hander who was purchased for an undisclosed sum to replace Ray Hamrick, induced into the navy today, is said to be a crackjack fielder. He has played with York and Trenton in the minors, and with Washington in the majors in 1937.

Senior Committee Will Meet Monday

Members of the Senior Day committee at Castle Hills golf course will meet Monday afternoon for a round of golf at 4 o'clock and then partake of a picnic dinner. It was announced today by Secretary Mont Magill.

There are 18 men on the Senior Day committee. Tickets for the Senior Day will be given to the committee at the picnic Monday. The Senior Day date is Wednesday, August 9 at Castle Hills for all golfers over 50.

ALL-STAR UMPIRES

GROVE CITY, July 14.—Charlie Berry and Cal Hubbard, American League umpires who officiated at the All-Star game in Pittsburgh, visited Robert A. Thon here en route to their next assignment at Cleveland. Berry was formerly head football coach at the college here.

Jockey Suspended On Taut Charges

CAMDEN, N. J., July 14.—(INS)—Jockey Albert Page, 22 of New York was under suspension today by Garden State Park, Camden, on charges of touting in the betting area—the first such penalty meted out since the track opened in 1942.

A representative of the track said he assumed Page had been caught touting around the mutual windows. The usual practice of touts is to tout every horse in a race, asking the bettor to place a gratis bet for the tout. Since one of them must win, the tout is sure of a return.

Training Rules Meant Little To Old Time Stars

Walter Hagan, Tod Sloan, Rabbit Maranville And
Paul Waner Broke
All Rules

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS).—This being Bastille day in France, my thoughts naturally wandered to the blue roses and the blue boys who find their way into them.

From that it was but a mental step to the so-called bad actors in sport but who were amazingly successful despite the fact that they broke all the training rules in the book.

These fellows were the despair of the blue roses who always declared that the straight and narrow path would never get anywhere, and even if they did, they wouldn't last long.

Well, well, let's see about that. You may recall a lad named Babe Ruth. The Babe was a fellow who could take his training rules or leave 'em alone and he much preferred to leave 'em alone. I think you'd admit that for 25 years he was a better ball player.

Waner Exception
I can think of hundreds of great ball players who liked to look on the wine when it was red, or even when it was white, and who made grand records over a long stretch of years. For instance, Paul Waner's thirst would never have endeared him to the WCTU but many a disliking fellow could assure you that his liquid refreshments never seemed to dim his batting eye.

Nor did Rabbit Maranville's devotion to his palate ever seem to dampen his enthusiasm for scampering around major and minor league infielders for a quarter of a century.

You can find these marvels—fellows who were able to disregard normal training rules—in every branch of sport. You may argue that they might have been even better if they'd never had anything stronger than tea to drink, but how much better golf do you suppose Walter Hagan could have played had he been a teetotaler?

Could Tod Sloan have ridden better without champagne? Could Harry Campbell, Maxie Rosenbloom, Mickey Walker or Stanley Ketchell have fought better had they always had a front seat on the water cart?

Must Obey Rules
I don't for a minute intend to give the impression that I believe training rules should be ignored. On the contrary, I believe the average man must obey them if he is going to get anywhere in sports.

But I do insist that there are and have been many wonderful athletes whose constitutions were so strong and whose natural abilities so far beyond the average that they could and did disregard all normal rules and yet were able to reach the heights and stay there for a long time.

We must disapprove of these characters and we do. But damn it, they had something the rest of us haven't got. They had a magnificent zest for living and playing vigorously. They were reckless, carefree and colorful and what a thrill they gave us.

Yes, yes, we must frown on them severely, but, gosh, how we loved—and envied—them.

Bucknell Sport Teams Hard Hit

LEWISBURG, Pa., July 14.—(INS).—It will be a wide-open scramble for positions on Bucknell sports teams during the coming year, a checkup on Navy V-12 transfers at the end of the semester revealed today.

No less than 22 men with varsity experience have moved on to other stations. Included in the group were three men who had played in three major sports, football, basketball and baseball.

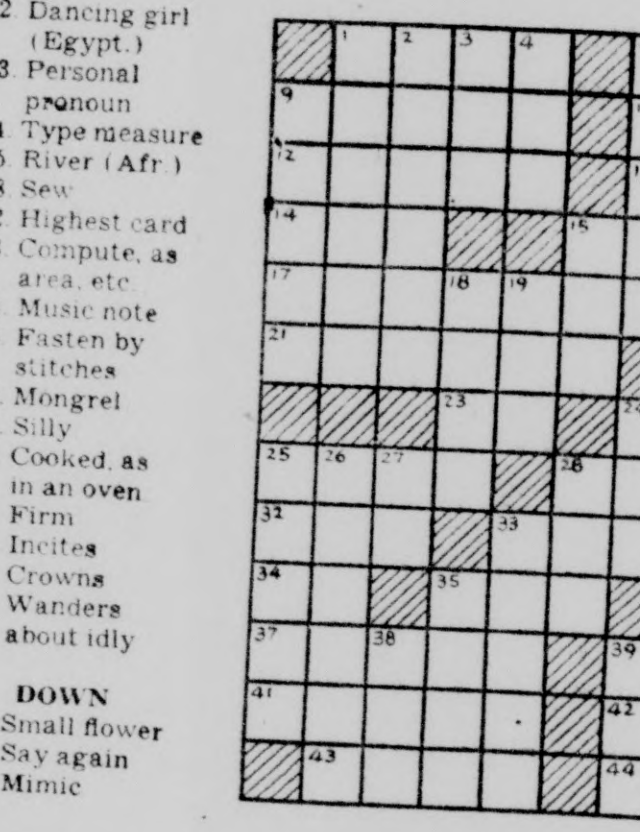

Ten men who played on last year's football team have been transferred. With football practice slated to start in a month, these remain on the campus only half a dozen holdovers from last year's eleven.

The toll was especially severe at the end position, where three men were lost.

MAN INJURED HEAD
Ream Love of R. D. 3 was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening for a laceration of the head, received at his work.

Brownie Split With Indians

Retain First Place As Yanks
And Red Sox Also Split,
Pirates Win

By JOHN CASHMAN
(Central Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, July 14.—The St. Louis Browns still retain their slight edge over the American League field today after a split with the Cleveland Indians who climbed into fifth place.

Had the Browns not pushed over three runs in the tenth inning of the extra-frame nightcap to win over the Indians, 4 to 1, Boston and New York would have been in a clear position to march on the Browns' league leadership, for the Browns lost the first game, 6 to 5.

Yanks-Sox Split
The New York Yankees and Boston, who are 2½ and 3½ games respectively behind the White Sox in the pennant race, split the first game, 4 to 2, and the Red Sox taking the nightcap, 8 to 4, on five unearned runs.

The Chicago White Sox dropped from fifth place to sixth when they were blasted by the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 1. Oral Grove yielded eight runs in the second inning, including Rudy York's ninth home of the season. Paul (Dizzy) Trout held the White Sox to just three hits in going the route.

Pirates Top Cubs
In the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 2, when they shoved across three runs in the seventh inning off Hank Wase. Fritz Ostermiller won his second game since being dealt out of the Brooklyn pack in limiting the Cubs to only seven hits.

A 2-2 tie in the sixth inning was broken by a double by Danny Litwiler, giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds in a night game at St. Louis. Al Jurisich was credited with his sixth victory of the season.

To add a particularly good flavor to your meat gravy, add a little chopped green pepper, especially to beef or lamb.

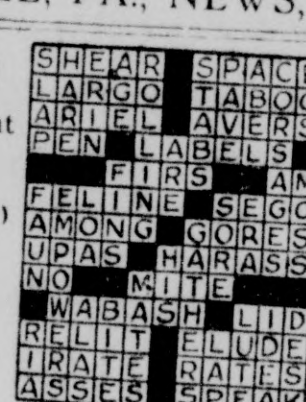

GIRL INJURED
IN BICYCLE FALL
Irene Dando, R. D. 7, age 19 years, fell from her bicycle Thursday evening about 11 o'clock, received injuries to her nose and left knee. She was treated at the New Castle hospital, where she is confined.

STOCK MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Trading Is Active With Volume
Running Slightly Ahead
Of Thursday

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS)—The stock market developed an irregularly lower trend in forenoon dealings today with a few special stocks and divisions attracting attention.

Trading was active with volume running slightly ahead of yesterday.

Mail orders were strong with Spiegel hitting a new high of 11 1/2 up nearly a point on the day. In the rails, Allegheny Corp. common was the standout trading block, running to as much as 20,000 shares and reaching 3 1/2 a 1944 peak.

Steels were back and, except for a gain of 1/4 point in Bethlehem, U. S. Steel lost 1/4 at the start and did not improve much thereafter.

Motors, too, got nowhere. Communications were backward as were the oils. In the rail equipment, American Car & Foundry hit a new high of 4 1/2, but the rest of that group did little.

Bonds were steady; grains gave ground and cotton lost about 35 cents a bale.

Employers Doing Fine Hiring Job

PITTSBURGH, July 14.—(INS)—Pittsburgh district employers are doing a good job in cooperating with the government in the new hiring program which became effective throughout the nation July 1, in the opinion of Area War Manpower Director P. T. Fagan.

At the same time, however, he warned that the threat of having the district classified as a critical labor shortage area has not yet passed.

Veteran Of Three Wars Fighting On

FORT DOUGLAS, Utah.—(INS)—An 80-year-old veteran of three wars, Jesse Tyson of Salt Lake City still is a "fighting" man today.

Tyson, who served with the British Army in the Boer War, with U. S. troops along the Mexican border in 1916 and with the AEP in 1918, is a civilian War Department worker at the headquarters of Maj. Gen. David McCoach, Jr., commanding general, Ninth Service Command, Fort Douglas.

His Fighting Ends

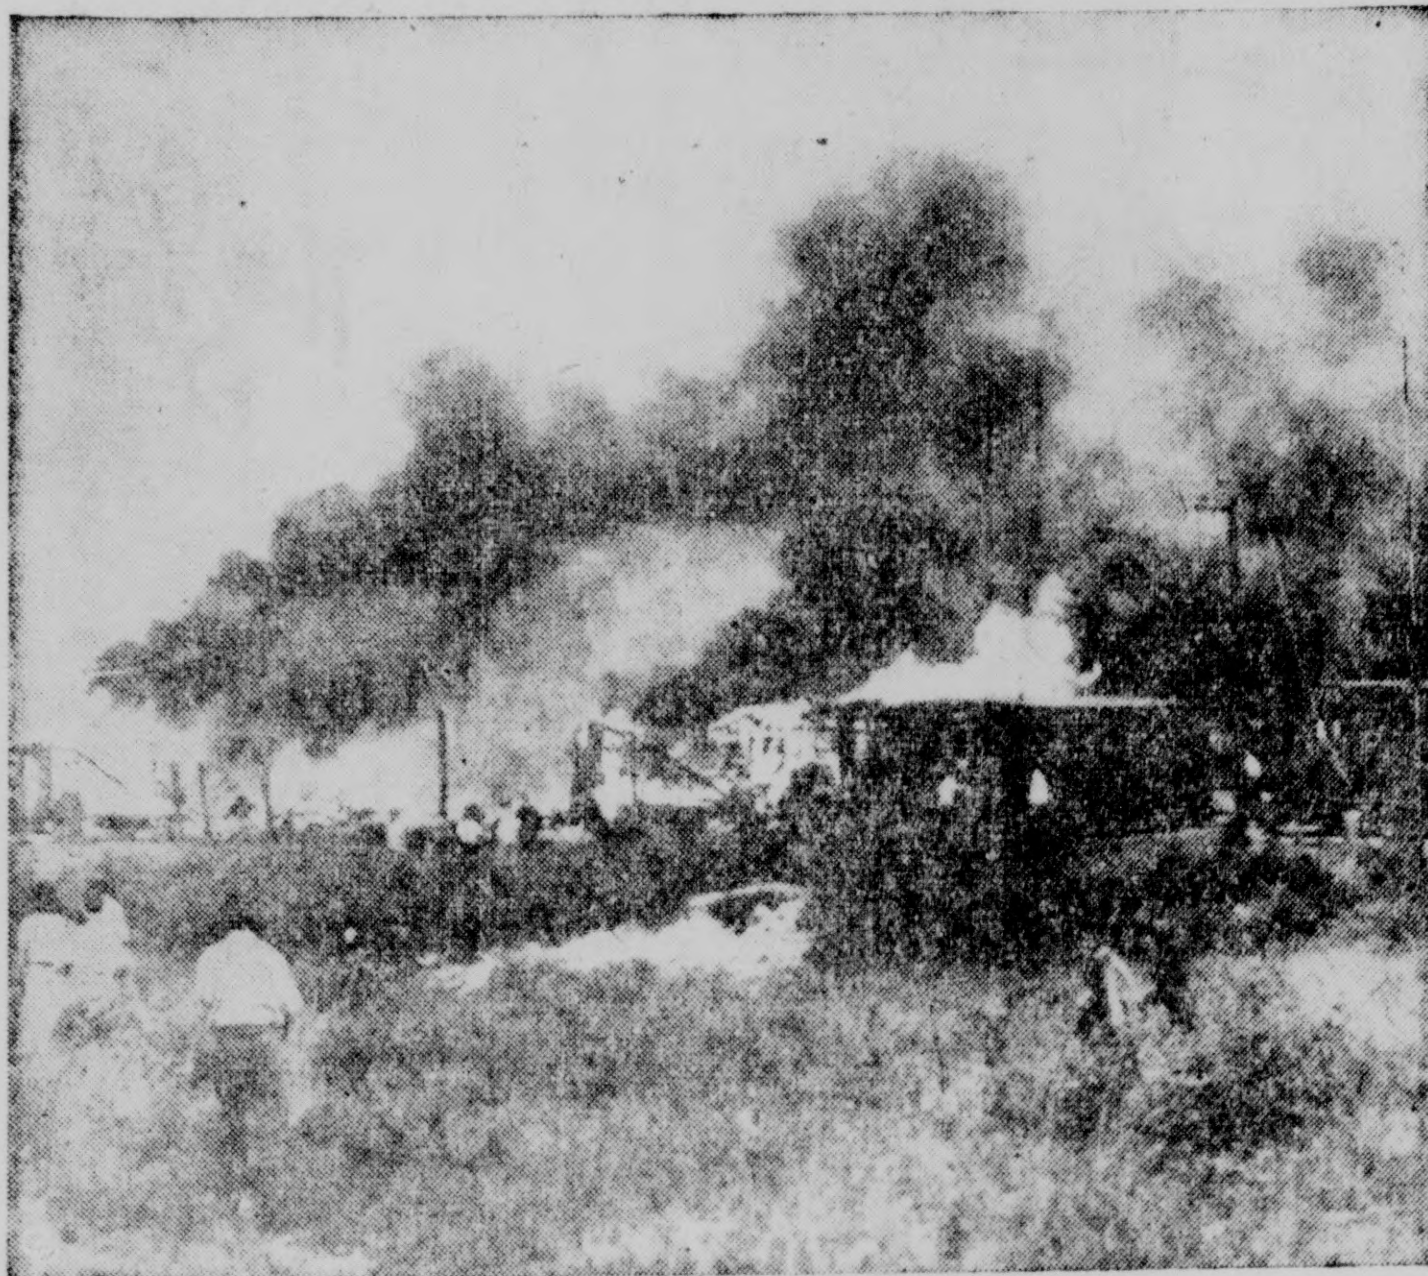

ABOARD a Coast Guard-manned LST, Nazi Lieut. Col. Hans Franz Muller, four times decorated for his war exploits, enjoys some sea air as he is transported across the English channel for internment in England. Muller was captured in the Battle of St. Lo. He wears the Iron Cross and other medals and a ribbon for participation in the Russian campaign. U. S. Coast Guard photo. (International)

Diaz' Widow Dies

LAST INTIMATE LINK between the "Old Mexico" and the present-day republic passes with the death of Carmen Romero Rubio Vidua de Diaz, above, who was "First Lady" of the land for 25 years. Widow of the former president, Porfirio Diaz, who ruled Mexico from 1876 until 1911, she died at her Mexico City home of heart disease at the age of 80. Dona Carmelita, as she was popularly called, and President Diaz were wed in 1881. (International)

TRAILERS BURN AFTER FATAL ARMY PLANE CRASH

FIREMEN BATTLE THE FLAMES among trailers parked in South Portland, Me., a few moments after a light Army plane crashed from the sky and struck fire and death among adults and children in the war workers' colony. Fifteen were killed, including two airmen in the fallen plane, and scores were injured, some so seriously that more deaths were feared. Army authorities have started an investigation. (International Soundphoto)

AIR BLITZ KEEPS BERLIN FIRES BURNING

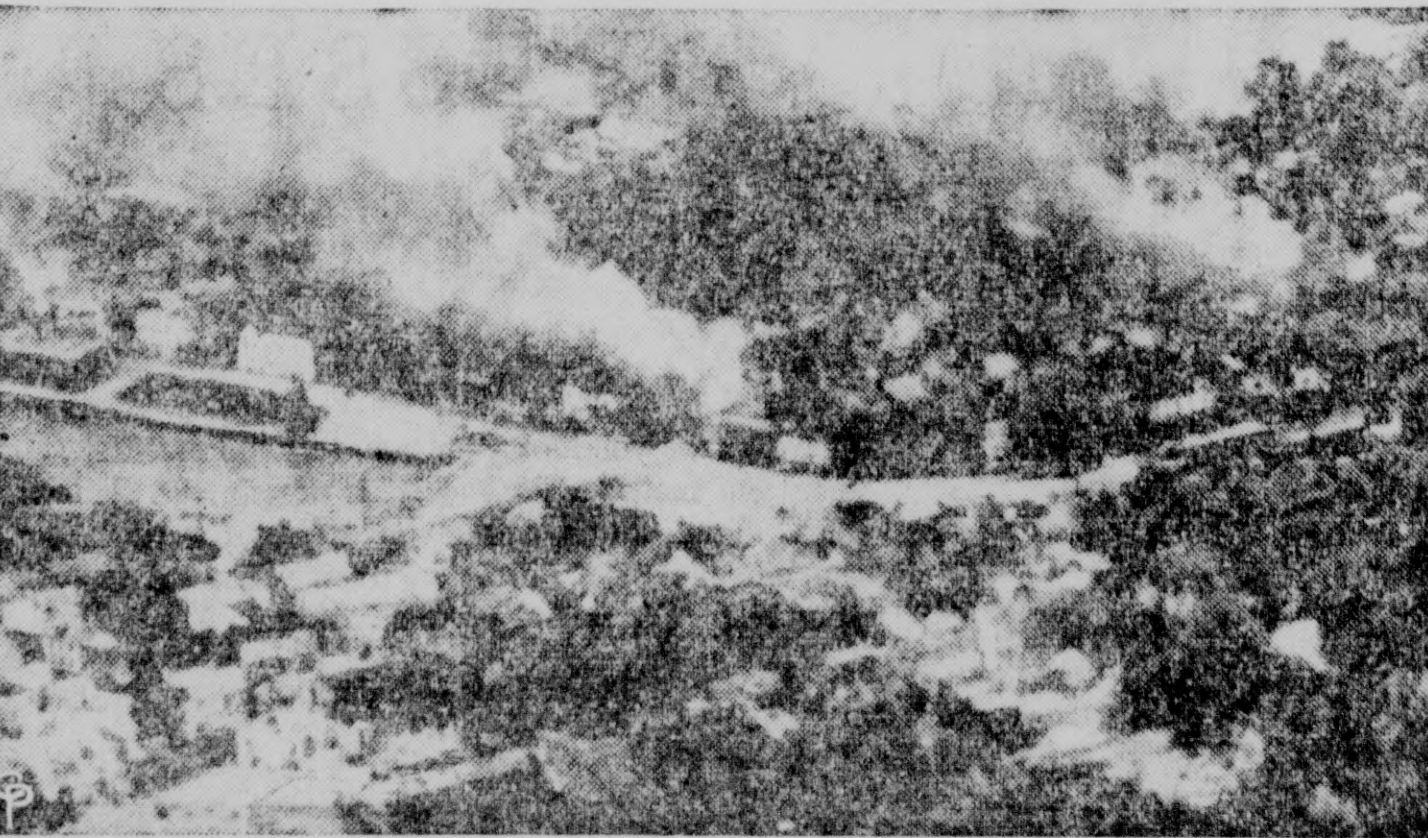

SMOKE AND FLAME rise from bomb-shattered buildings somewhere in Berlin as residents of the enemy capital look on. Neither building is identified in the German caption accompanying this photo, but the one on the left seems to be an important landmark and the one in the center may be a church. Perhaps the spectators are remembering that the bombing of cities was started by their own Nazi Luftwaffe. (International)

TATTOO MARKS ON JAP AIRFIELD--U. S. STYLE

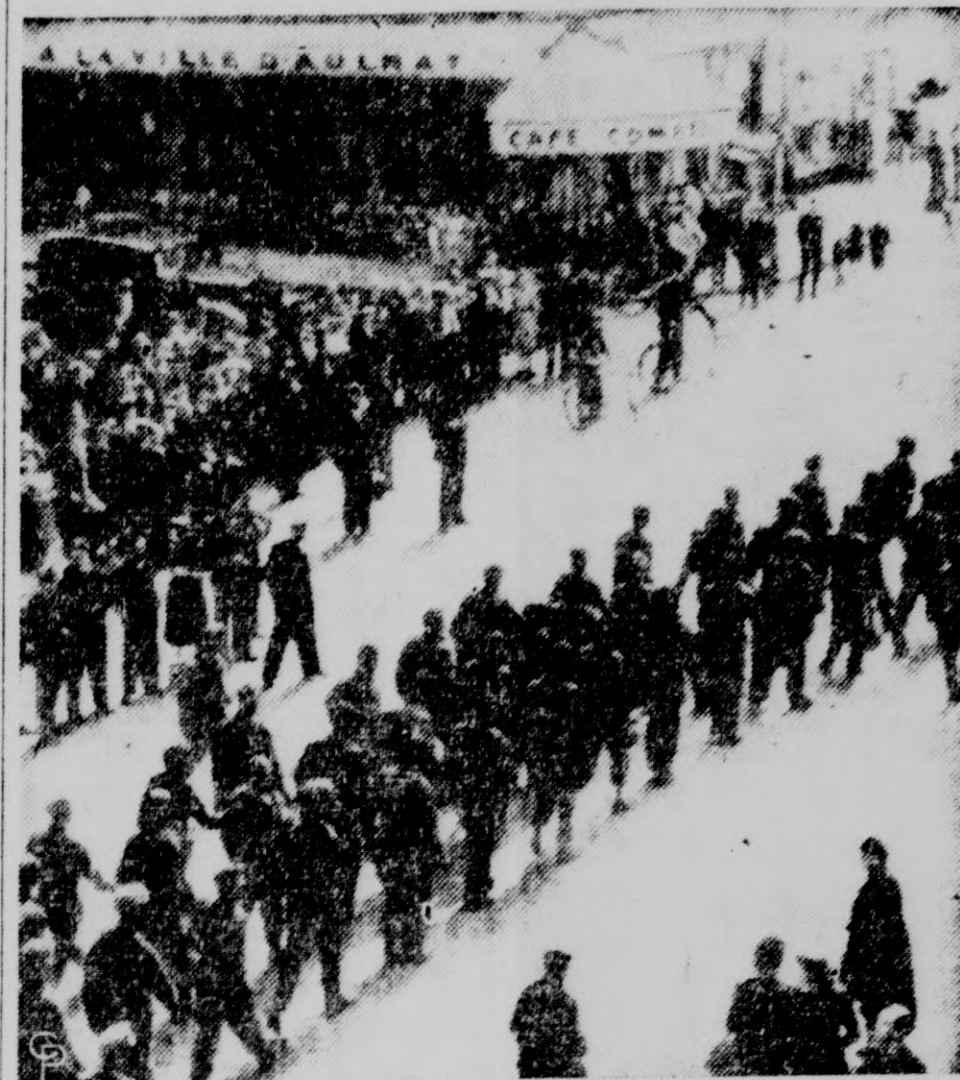

WHEN THE U. S. ARMY'S SEVENTH AIR FORCE hits, it hits hard. The Jap airfield on Wotje island, rendered impotent by the Yank fliers, looks like the receiving end of a dart game after repeated poundings. This is an official United States Army Air Forces photograph. (International)

AS CAEN LAY BURNING BEFORE BRITISH TOOK IT

FIRES SET BY SHELLS were sweeping through Caen when this photo was made from an RAF reconnaissance plane shortly before British forces captured the city. Desperately defended by the Nazis since D-Day as the eastern anchor of their Normandy line, Caen was wrested from the enemy by a crushing attack that carried to the banks of the Orne, 120 miles from Paris. ALLIES SEE PARIS, SAY NAZIS

THESE MARCHING MEN, says the German caption accompanying the photo, are American and Canadian prisoners-of-war taken in Normandy and are shown being marched through a Paris street while French civilians look on. The Allies have taken 54,000 Nazi prisoners since D Day. Gen. Montgomery announced, offsetting German claims that thousands of our troops are captured. (International Radiophoto)

War Boom Has Passed Peak Declares Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1944—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 14.—Business volume has been maintained at such a high level since Pearl Harbor that it is hard for some to realize that there can be any slowing up. However, the past six months witnessed the beginning of the end of our current war boom. As we enter the third quarter the trend will continue downward. From this point on business will have to adjust itself to quite different conditions—with a gradual resumption of more normal activities.

The Stock Market

During the past six months stock market averages of 30 industrials and 20 rails have risen from 86.94 in January to 92.69 in June. This is a rise of 7.7 per cent. All things considered the market has acted well during the first half of the year. Our taxes on capital gains and the double taxation on corporate dividends continue to be distinct drawbacks. London investors have no capital gains tax to contend with. Hence, the prices of English stocks are outpacing U. S. securities.

I have been bullish on stocks during the past six months and I now continue so. The coming third quarter is especially apt to show a rise in view of the presidential campaign. It may seem odd for me to forecast a decline in the volume of business and at the same time to expect a rise in security prices; but the relief which investors are experiencing over the war's progress together with the constructive oratory of Dewey, Bricker and other Republicans is being reflected in the stock market.

Wages

In spite of controls, wages have risen a little more during the past six months. Union leaders have worked hard for pay increases and will continue to do so in order to hold their own jobs. However, the heyday of the industrial worker is rapidly passing. Production cut-backs are resulting in the laying off of thousands of workers. This has gone relatively unnoticed as such layoffs have occurred in widely separated geographical areas.

Too many wage workers have not saved a fair proportion of their wartime earnings. They are bound later to feel the economic effects thereof. Many of the latter will lose their jobs between now and the end of the war. They will find it hard to get new ones. I anticipate that the average demoralized service man will not only find his old job waiting but if he wishes he will be financially able to enter business on his own account. When demoralization comes, soldiers and sailors may be in better financial shape than are the wage workers who remained home.

Retail Trade

Retail trade has steadily gone ahead during the first six months of the year. Wartime wages have been the deciding factor in spite of the scarcity of goods, price controls and luxury taxes. Merchants have done a wonderful job in keeping their shelves stocked to the extent that they have. More goods will become available as we enter the third quarter, but both the volume of retail business and the value of goods sold may decline to somewhat lower levels.

I am not sure about this. With retail trade at an all-time peak, but with a general drop expected in employment; with higher costs and lower profit margins and with a generally more cautious spending tendency, a reaction in the retail field is possible. Despite this I continue bullish on well-selected merchandizing stocks. I particularly like the chain stores which can easily adapt themselves to almost all changes.

Commodity Prices

During the first six months of the year commodity prices held up. I expect them to hold at around current levels for the time being. Buyers should continue to keep moderately protected. Price controls have helped all. Food requirements will continue heavy, but we shall have the largest crops in our history. Hence, food supplies will remain ample; but will not be excessive.

Both hard and soft goods will continue scarce until we can revert to production for civilian requirements. Retail prices after the war may average 15 per cent more above prewar prices. Certainly when new automobiles are available they will be priced higher than prewar levels. Building costs will also be up sharply.

Conclusion

We are now definitely in the transition period from war to peace. Hitler will probably collapse sometime between November 7, 1944, and March 7, 1945. The coming six months will bring more adjustments in business and in living than we have witnessed for sometime. Yet these headaches are the necessary prelude to peacetime activities. Despite them, I am sure we shall all breathe more easily in the near-term future than we have in the recent past.

Freshman Class At State To Number 460

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—Freshmen represent one third of the total civilian enrollment at the Pennsylvania State College this semester. Registrar William S. Hoffman announced today. He set the total civilian figure at 1280, of which more than 460 are first and second semester freshmen.

An influx of 17-year-olds eager to finish at least one semester of study before their induction into the army enabled men students in the new freshman group to outnumber women, 138 to 126. Registrar Hoffman said the total of 364 first semester freshmen represented the largest single group on campus.

The 1280 civilian students, plus 685 summer session enrollees, 565 Navy V-12 and 295 ASTP trainees, boosted the total campus figure for the current semester to 2820.

No Woman Can Do Two Jobs Well

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 14.—(INS)—Servicemen's wives with wartime jobs were advised today by Dr. M. E. John of the Pennsylvania State College to consider homemaking a fulltime job when their husbands return—or face the prospect of a broken home. "Fulltime interests outside the home," he said, "unquestionably lessen interest in the home. Women who work destroy the satisfaction to be gained from homemaking both for their husbands and for themselves," the Penn State sociologist added.

Because no woman can do two jobs as well as one, many children—and husbands, too—will show the effects of wartime neglect, he said. Divorce rates, he warned, are higher in marriages where the woman is employed outside the home.

BOOKS AT LIBRARY FOR WOMEN WHO SEW

Books of particular interest to homemakers and women interested in sewing noted in today on the non-fiction shelves of the public library included the following:

Needles and Pins; Ida Riley Duncan.

Furnishing the Small Home.

Your Family Wardrobe, and The Complete Book of Sewing, both by Constance Talbot.

Stitching and Crocheting; Ella Langenberg.

A number of books on home canning, ration cooking, cook books, and menu planning are also available at the library.
